Preface

The author, an attorney and graduate of Dallas Theological Seminary, addresses the problem of pain with the conviction that scripture is inspired by the Holy Spirit and is wholly without error. Accordingly, this book is an uncompromising demand for scriptural consistency and truth – whether it bodes good or ill for how one may prefer to view God. The reason for this approach is not simply to grasp the truth, but to honor the Creator, who, for His own reasons, has made us in the way that He chose and is in no need of apology.

This book is an examination of scripture for the purpose of understanding why God, being both just and good, permits pain and tragedy to occur to those He loves.

The problem of pain is a canker in the faith of many and a stumbling block for many more. But there are excellent reasons why the Creator has created a world that contains both pleasure and pain. The failure to confront the more difficult scriptures directly and see the whole fabric of His creation as a whole obscures the reality of God's true character and leads the Christian to a place where God is re-defined and made into something that He is not.

Ultimately, if God is God, He is responsible for all things including adversity and pain. Ironically, when one confronts this difficult truth with blunt honesty and simply accepts the plain words of scripture, the circumventions that we often use to color our conception of God begin to fade and an unexpected consistency and faith emerges.

As I wrote this book it became evident that the avoidance of adversity is of equal, if not more, importance than the reason for it. I therefore addressed that issue in the last half of the book.

The Theological Problem of Pain

WHY DOES GOD PERMIT ADVERSITY?

Perhaps in the end we will find that the problem of pain and adversity lies at the very center of Christian doubt.

Indeed, there is no more challenging argument to the Christian than the argument “If God is a loving God and if He is all powerful, then how could He allow pain and adversity?” This argument is a formidable challenge to our faith, but it is only facade that covers the deeper challenge: “Is there a God at all?”

If the answer to that question is "Yes," then if there is a God, He is either not loving or He is not all powerful because He permits pain and adversity to exist when He could stop it.

The questions and argument continue, “The first baby born without arms is an irrefutable argument that a loving caring God does not exist.” And “Who is this God who could prevent the untimely death of a mother or a father or a child, but does not do so? Or “How can a loving God allow disasters, disease and hunger? Why does He stand by when horrible crimes are committed?” Or simply, "Why am I dying?"

How can this loving God allow deformities, idiocy, obesity, dwarfism, and ugliness? How can He who can prevent them allow accidents and life-long losses? How can He permit suicide, divorce, adultery, cancer, blindness, insanity and all manner of other tragedies both physical and emotional? How could a loving God permit slavery and holocausts and children who just go wrong and never come back? If He is a loving God, how can He permit our heart to be ripped apart?

Ironically, it is only after we have the courage to challenge Him with these questions that His presence and power become real—and the true strength of scripture becomes evident. Challenges like these prove Him. We challenge Him only to discover that He invites the challenge and He emerges as a shining Truth out of the cobwebs of avoided issues and circumvented doctrines. When we challenge Him head-on for who He is we see more clearly than ever that He is indeed righteous, loving, just and more magnificent than we will ever know.

So let us take a leap of faith and face the Problem of Pain head-on and see where scripture takes us.

Chapter 2

God is God Despite the Opinions of Man

A MORE SUITABLE GOD

God has created us the way we are for a very good reason, and He has given us no choice in the matter. He has done what He has done but He leaves us free to accept Him or reject Him.

One thing we must not do, however, is to pretend that He is something that He is not. It is foolhardy to ignore scripture in order to accommodate our own distaste for the way that He has fashioned us, because He is who He is despite any opinion to the contrary.

But who is He? The God of scripture is eternal.<sup>1</sup> He existed before man and He created man,<sup>2</sup> and He will exist for the rest of eternity.<sup>3</sup> Therefore, He exists apart from man and is not dependent upon man for any aspect of His existence. God is God notwithstanding what we would prefer Him to be.

Whether we accept Him, agree with Him, love Him, reject Him, hate Him, follow Him or try to make Him into our own image, He is who He is. And all of our pretense, fabrications and rejections of scripture will not change Him. So, let us concern ourselves first with the God of the Bible and then, and only then, permit ourselves to depart if we find Him to be anything less than exactly what He says He is: love.<sup>4</sup>

If we do not wish Him to be who He is or if we do not wish Him to do what He does, it is of no matter because He simply is. Indeed, His name is "I AM THAT I AM"<sup>5</sup> which means "The Self-existent One." We cannot change Him, nor can He change Himself. He is immutable (unchangeable).<sup>6</sup> If we examine Him and find Him not to be to our liking, it is of no moment, because He is still God.

To construct a different god and worship it is idolatry. There is only one God, and He is a jealous God.<sup>7</sup> He will not receive the worship of those who worship another god.

The God of Scripture is Sovereign.

God of is sovereign over all things.<sup>8</sup> He is all-powerful<sup>9</sup> and all-knowing,<sup>10</sup> and as such, He foreknew each of us.<sup>11</sup> He knows the number of the hairs on our head<sup>12</sup> and is aware of every sparrow that falls.<sup>13</sup> He creates man and all things<sup>14</sup> and He executes His will notwithstanding the opinions of man.<sup>15</sup> He heals,<sup>16</sup> guides,<sup>17</sup> directs,<sup>18</sup> answers prayer,<sup>19</sup> manifests himself (makes Himself known) to those who love and obey Him;<sup>20</sup> He lives in each person who obeys Him and who

God who is constantly with us and is all powerful is fully capable of delivering each of us from all pain and tragedy and insulating us from harm and sin, either our own sin or the sin of others.

God could place us in a world where no baby is born without arms, where no one dies, where no disease afflicts, no crime injures, no accident maims, no war kills, no greed steals and no tear is ever shed. But He did not (However, at a later time He will<sup>29</sup>). God who created each of us and who knows the hairs on our heads<sup>30</sup> is more than capable of healing any disease that we may ever encounter and instantly delivering us from persecution, hatred, crime, injury, debt, loss, lawsuit, disease, pain or death. And He, more than any force in the universe, is able to protect us and our loved ones from anything. But He does not always do so. Why?

29. Revelation 21:4 “And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away.”

30. Luke 12:7 “But even the very hairs of your head are all numbered.”

Let us not delude ourselves by embracing a theology that teaches that God is not responsible for adversity. Because God certainly is responsible for adversity. He is responsible for all things, including every tragedy and every pain and loss that has ever occurred because He is all knowing<sup>31</sup> and all powerful.<sup>32</sup>

God does not directly cause all tragedies, but He certainly permits them.<sup>33</sup> He created forces of nature and fashioned every microbe and virus that is responsible for every disease and He created evil people who kill and injure others. He knows when people will be born with defects and He permits it anyway. Scripture tells us clearly that the God of the Bible created all things.<sup>34</sup> He knows in advance of each tragedy that will happen.<sup>35</sup> He who created Mother Theresa also created Adolph Hitler and effectively hammered His own son to a cross and left Him to die an excruciating death. He created every saint, every sinner, every taker and every giver, every disease and every recovery, every pain and every pleasure on this earth. He alone determines when men shall live and when men shall die and the agony and the ecstasy that they will suffer in between.

Although God is the Creator of those who commit sin, He is not the author of sin.<sup>36</sup> Sin is a free choice made by man to ignore the will of God and to engage in acts that result in spiritual death.<sup>37</sup> God neither sins, nor causes sin nor does He tempt anyone to sin.<sup>38</sup> God creates the sinner but it is the sinner who independently sins. But God is ultimately responsible for both because He created both the sinner and the sin.

31. Hebrews 4:13 "Neither is there any creature that is not manifest in His sight: but all things are naked and opened unto the eyes of Him with Whom we have to do."

32. Revelation 19:6 "...for the Lord God omnipotent reigneth."

33. Job 1:12 "And the Lord said unto Satan, Behold, all that he [Job] hath is in thy power; only upon himself put not forth thine hand.."

34. Colossians 1:16 "For by Him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by Him, and for Him."

36. Deuteronomy 32:4 "All His ways are right." Job 34:12 "Surely God will not act wickedly, and the Almighty will not pervert justice."

37. Romans 6:23 "For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord."

38. James 1:13 "...God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth He any man; but every man is tempted when he is drawn away of his own lust..."

For this same reason, one cannot argue that the omnipotent God is not responsible for adversity because it is somehow part of his “permissive” will rather than His “sovereign” will. This distinction makes no difference whatever because God is omnipotent<sup>39</sup> and omniscient,<sup>40</sup> all powerful and all knowing<sup>41</sup> and He alone determines what will occur. This means that nothing happens of which He is not aware; nothing happens that He does not permit; and nothing happens that He does not ultimately cause. Exculpating God by saying that a tragedy occurred because of different parts of His will—or because His back was turned—is saying that God is not omnipotent and not in control of all things. This argument is unscriptural and unnecessary. God is ultimately responsible for everything and He has no need to be exculpated from anything.

Many simply do not accept that God is the author of tragedy because they do not wish the God whom they worship to have any part in adversity. But God Himself announces that He directly creates evil:

I form the light, and create darkness: I make peace, and create evil;<sup>42</sup> I the Lord do all these things.<sup>43</sup>

Therefore, when scripture says that we should fear God,<sup>44</sup> it means exactly that. He did not promise us a life that would be a bed of rose petals; He promised a life that would be garden of roses and thorns. Jesus warns us to fear God because God not only kills but casts some into hell after He has finished killing:

42. The Hebrew word that is translated “evil” in this passage can mean 1) evil as in a malicious, immoral act, or 2) evil as in a disaster (as translated in the NIV) or “harm” (as translated in Jeremiah 39:12 (KJV)) or 3) it can mean a consequence which is the result of an evil act of men, as in, “Woe to them that are at ease in Zion...ye that put far away the evil day...and drink wine in bowls...but they are not grieved for the affliction of Joseph.” (Amos 6:1,3,6). When Isaiah 45:7 is read with Deuteronomy 32:4, Job 34:12 and James 1:13, it is clear that its meaning cannot be 1, but is instead either 2 or 3. See Harris, L., Archer, G., Waltke, B. Theological Wordbook of the Old Testament. Chicago: Moody Press. 1980. Print. s.v. 2191 at page 854 vol. 2. See also Keil, C.F., Delitzsch, F. Commentary on the Old Testament. Grand Rapids, Michigan: Eerdmans. 1975. Print. Vol. VII, p. 221 (Isaiah 45:7).

43. Isaiah 45:7; the Hebrew translated “evil” is better rendered “tragedy”, as it is in the New American Standard Version.

44. Deuteronomy 6:13 “Thou shalt fear the Lord thy God, and serve Him...”

And I say unto you, my friends, be not afraid of them that kill the body, and after that have no more that they can do. But I will forewarn you whom ye shall fear: Fear Him who, after he hath killed, hath power to cast into hell; yea, I say unto you, Fear Him.<sup>45</sup>

So Jesus tells us that God kills and casts into hell. Of course He does! He is God. He alone determines when each of our bodies will die. The term “kill” refers to those who die suddenly or violently, so the verse clearly refers to God killing the body and casting the soul into hell. And, indeed, not only does He kill, but He destines some to be disobedient and to stumble:

Behold, I lay in Zion a Chief corner stone, elect, precious: and he that believeth on Him shall not be confounded. Unto you therefore which believe He is precious; but unto them which be disobedient, the stone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner, and a stone of stumbling, and a rock of offense, even to them which stumble at the word, being disobedient: whereunto also they were appointed...<sup>46</sup>

And God chooses:

Therefore hath he mercy on whom He will have mercy, and whom He will He hardeneth. You will say then unto me, Why does He yet find fault? For who has resisted His will? Nay but, O man, who are you to reply against God? Shall the thing formed say to Him that formed it, Why have you made me thus?<sup>47</sup>

So God chooses some and does not choose others and ultimately casts some into hell.

At this point we must address what happens to people in hell because the eternal fate of the billions who reject Christ speaks directly to the character of God and we must understand the character of God to understand why He does what He does.

We must therefore ask, if "God is love" as John 4:8 says that He is, why does He cast the soul of everybody but Christians into hell? They are dead; their life is over. What purpose is served by tormenting them for the rest of eternity? The evident answer to that question is that although God is loving, He is also just and sin must be punished. Those whose sins are not forgiven must ultimately face their Creator as their Judge.

But everyone's life is different. Why torment those whose sins are relatively minor for the rest of time? Does God really torment people in hell for eternity? The conventional response to this question is, "Yes and that just shows how much God hates sin." If this is true, then it means that God creates man in such a way that it is impossible for man not to sin because all men sin.<sup>48</sup> Except for Jesus Christ, no one has ever lived a life without sin. It is inevitable that man will sin, and when man does commit the inevitable sin, God, who is just, must hold him to account for his sin when he dies unless he has turned to Christ. God will resurrect that sinner (body and soul) after he dies, judge him guilty for doing what is inevitable for him to do, throw him into hell and burn him alive for the rest of eternity. The wages of sin is eternal torment.

That is prevalent evangelical theology. And it is wrong because the wages of sin is not eternal torment. The wages of sin is death.<sup>49</sup> God does not burn sinners in hell forever. He judges them and if they have sinned, then they will die.<sup>50</sup> That is the reason why the judgment of the unredeemed is called the "second death"<sup>51</sup> because they die. They are not burned alive forever. The doctrine that teaches that everybody except Christians will be effectively burned alive forever is a Catholic myth.<sup>52</sup>

Hell is where the souls of the unredeemed reside until the final judgment. After the final judgment they die eternally. Eternal death is their eternal punishment.

How does this effect the theology of adversity? It shows that God is just and there are no surprises. He warns us repeatedly that sin causes death but that He has provided an escape. Jesus Christ died in our place. He paid our death-penalty for us and those who turn to Him can escape eternal death. But those who reject Christ will have to pay their own penalty, which is death. So, God judges sin and He determines when we are born and when we die. This is no surprise; we have known it all of our lives.

The argument for eternal torment is substantiated only from the fact that some scriptures are broad enough to support either eternal death or eternal torment. But there is no scripture that actually teaches eternal torment for unbelievers; every single scripture that addresses the eternal fate of the unredeemed either teaches death as the final end of the unredeemed or points to it. This includes passages that allude to eternal punishment<sup>53</sup> because the unredeemed will be punished eternally, to be sure, but that eternal punishment is death, not eternal torment.

It is for this reason that scripture tells of two deaths, not just one. In the first death the body dies;<sup>54</sup> and in the second death the soul dies.<sup>55</sup>

Unless the soul is saved through Christ, in the end it will die<sup>56</sup> because of sin.<sup>57</sup> All have been thoroughly warned<sup>58</sup> and given the opportunity to be saved through Christ.<sup>59</sup>

The only escape of eternal death is to appropriate the work of Jesus Christ who paid the wage of sin for us by dying for us in our place on the cross.<sup>60</sup>

It is essential for us to understand that the doctrine of eternal torment of the unbeliever is error because when we understand that God is truly sovereign it is essential to understand that He does not predestine anyone to burn in hell forever. He places us on this earth and in this life. He punishes sin with spiritual and eternal physical death. He alone determines when we will live and when we will die.<sup>61</sup>

Some Christian denominations re-define God to become less fearsome, less responsible and not really in control. They create a god who neither interferes nor creates nor does anything unpleasant. In this way they lead their congregations away from the Creator, away from scripture, away from salvation by faith in Christ and into lives that will eventually end in eternal death.

One does not have to look far in scripture to see that God is far from the neutered god described by apostate churches. The God of the Bible is fearsome. Love and acceptance are not His only attributes. The God of scripture is also the eternal judge and in control of all things. He alone determines when we die and determines the adversities that we face while we are alive.

For instance, He determined that every human on the face of the earth except for one family would die because of wickedness—this obviously included infants.<sup>62</sup> He predestinated His own people, the Israelites, to be enslaved and mistreated in Egypt for 400 years;<sup>63</sup> He turned the hearts of the Egyptians against them<sup>64</sup> and strengthened Pharaoh's resolve not to respond to the signs of Moses and his demand to let the Israelites go.<sup>65</sup> He then proceeded to visit a series of miraculous tragedies upon the people of Egypt and when Pharaoh would not let the children of Israel go He killed all of the first born of Egypt, including innocent babies (this is the Passover).<sup>66</sup> In order to protect the Israelites, whom He had predestinated to be slaves in Egypt, He drowned an army of Egyptians who were required to follow the orders of Pharaoh.<sup>67</sup> He

62. Genesis 6:5 "And God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually... And the LORD said, I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the earth; both man and beast, and the creeping thing, and the fowls of the air; for it repenteth me that I have made them."

63. Genesis 15:13 "And He said unto Abram, Know of a surety that thy seed shall be a stranger in a land that is not theirs, and shall serve them; and they shall afflict them four hundred years."

65. Exodus 7:3 "And I will harden Pharaoh's heart, and multiply my signs and my wonders in the land of Egypt. But Pharaoh shall not harken unto you, that I may lay my hand upon Egypt, and bring forth mine armies, and my people the children of Israel, out of the land of Egypt by great judgments"

66. Exodus 11:1, 4-5 "And the LORD said unto Moses, Yet will I bring one plague more upon Pharaoh, and upon Egypt; afterwards he will let you go ...About midnight will I go out into the midst of Egypt. And all the first-born in the land of Egypt shall die..."

67. Exodus 14:27 "And the waters returned, and covered the chariots, and the caused the Chaldeans to attack Jerusalem punish Israel for idolatry and He sent all of Israel into captivity.<sup>68</sup> He killed 50,070 men just because certain members of their tribe looked into the Ark of the Covenant;<sup>69</sup> and when He was angered He directly killed some of His own people<sup>70</sup> and sent a plague among them.<sup>71</sup> Because of their sin, He made Himself an enemy to his own people.<sup>72</sup> He destroyed every inhabitant of Sodom and Gomorrah by burning them alive, except for the family of Lot.<sup>73</sup> He sent His own Son to be crucified and die a horrible death to pay for the sins of others.<sup>74</sup> And He states with absolute clarity that in the end of days, when mankind returns to legitimized sin and debauchery as in of the days of Noah,<sup>75</sup> the world will suffer unprecedented destruction and pain.<sup>76</sup>

Considering the character of God as revealed in scripture and considering the litany of tragedies that God has inflicted on man one thing is imminently clear and that is that in the eyes of God, death of the body is certainly not the ultimate tragedy.

Make no mistake about it. The God of scripture is not only love and acceptance.<sup>77</sup> He is fearsome and He is in total control. We should see Him as God indeed and obey Him to the very letter. Fear Him.

73. Genesis 19:24 “Then the Lord rained upon Sodom and upon Gomorrah brimstone and fire...” For many, this teaching is beyond the scope of rational belief. That is His intent. He wants us to make a free choice, just like the people of Sodom made a free choice.

75. Matthew 24:37 “But as the days of Noah were, so shall also the coming of the Son of man be.”

77. First John 4:8 “...God is love.”

But, although He is fearsome and wrathful, He is also the cause of every moment of every love, every act of kindness, every self-sacrifice, every help, every touch, every faithful friend and supportive and loving spouse, every caring mother and father, every honest word, every birth, and every beautiful and wonderful thing on this earth.

So, let us simply admit that He is who He is whether we like it or not. But in our admitting let us admit all that He is. Let us presume that these scriptures are true, as is all of scripture, and have the courage see where it leads us. Let us look at this God, who is at once the author of tragedy and ecstasy, the giver of comfort and pain, the author of eternal life and eternal death, and let us ask the most difficult of questions:

Why?

Chapter 3

A Reason for Adversity

MANKIND WITHOUT ADVERSITY IS MANKIND
WITHOUT RELEVANCE

God places us in a world where He is not immediately evident. He obscures Himself<sup>1</sup> and makes Himself known only to those who love Him and obey His commands.<sup>2</sup> Why?

We live our life and during the process we discover things like honor, love, charity, goodness, righteousness and wisdom. Gradually we perceive that there is a spiritual side to life, a spiritual plane that is superimposed upon the physical. We live in both of them. Why has He created us in this way? What does He accomplish with this obscurity and why the pain?

He has created us the way we are for good reason. For good reason He has placed fallible man into a world of crumbling virtues and sin, ecstasy and pain. The reason for this and the reason why He permits (and creates) adversity is because He is using it to create eternal value and that eternal value is called righteousness.

And we are the vessels that He has chosen to house it.

We are His chosen agents, chosen to express and to create things like honor, fidelity, honesty, kindness, forgiveness, acceptance and integrity. We are His chosen ones, chosen to express the essence of what God is: love.<sup>3</sup>

The gripping irony of this magnificent goal is that the virtues that express righteousness and love cannot exist in a vacuum. They must have their counterparts. Honesty cannot exist without dishonesty; fidelity is vapid without the existence of betrayal; and in order for kindness to exist, cruelty must be possible. And what inherent good is honor if one is not free to choose dishonor?

1. John 3:6 " Truly, truly, I tell you, no one can enter the kingdom of God unless he is born of water and the Spirit. Flesh is born of flesh, but spirit is born of the Spirit. Do not be amazed that I said, 'You must be born again.'"

2. John 14:21 "He who has My commandments and keeps them, he it is who loves Me; and he who loves Me shall be loved by My Father, and I will love him, and will disclose Myself to him."

3. First John 4:8 "...God is love."

Adversity creates the background for righteousness, for spiritual strength, patience and love. Like a white ferret invisible on a snowy hill, righteousness is invisible without its opposites and where righteousness and unrighteousness inevitably intersect lies adversity. Ultimately it is adversity that engenders righteousness; and righteousness is eternal. Adversity is the fire that forges eternal value.

Righteousness is not possible without choice and choice is irrelevant without adversity. Mankind without adversity would not be man. Man must be free to sin if his choice not to sin is to have relevance. If man is free to give, he must also be free to take. If he is free to love, he must also be free to reject. He must have free will to be real. The man who is free to give must also be free to take or his giving has no intrinsic value. He must be free to sin. He must have free will.

Of all of the miracles that Christ performed, not one of them altered the free will of anyone. Nowhere does scripture make this more evident than in the case of John the Baptist. When the Baptist was imprisoned, Christ was beginning His ministry and performing miracle after miracle. Christ changed water into wine.<sup>4</sup> He healed the sick<sup>5</sup> and gave sight to the blind<sup>6</sup> and paid the temple tax from coins taken from the mouths of fishes,<sup>7</sup> but He left John the Baptist to die in prison. The Baptist fell victim to a tyrant and the whim of a depraved young girl. The soldiers of Herod came to the Baptist's cell and cut off his head and presented it to the girl on a platter.<sup>8</sup> Christ did nothing to stop it because He would not interfere with either the free will of Herod or the adversity of the Baptist. Herod defined himself by what he did, and so did the Baptist. Each of them defined who he was by the choices he made and both of them faced their God and His eternal judgment exactly as they chose.

4. John 2:8 "Jesus told the servants, "Fill the jars with water." So they filled them to the brim. Now draw some out, He said, and take it to the master of the banquet. They did so, and the master of the banquet tasted the water that had been turned into wine."

5. Matthew 8:3 "Jesus reached out His hand and touched the man. "I am willing," He said, "be clean." And immediately his leprosy was cleansed..."

6. John 9:6,7 "Jesus...spat on the ground, made some mud, and applied it to the man's eyes. Then He told him, "Go, wash in the pool of Siloam" (which means Sent). So the man went and washed, and came back seeing."

7. Matthew 17:27 "Go thou to the sea, and cast an hook, and take up the fish that first cometh up; and when thou hast opened his mouth, thou shalt find a piece of money: that take, and give unto them for me and thee."

8. Mark 6:20-28

God has a reason for creating a world in moral free-fall where young girls and potentates can place the heads of prophets upon platters. There is a reason why we live in a world where free will is unrestrained and crooked politicians, tyrants, criminals and sin blossom like spring weeds. It is no accident.

The Creator has placed us in a fallen world where the only currency of true value is righteousness and virtue, coins of honesty and honor, truth and wisdom, justice and mercy, fidelity, diligence, reliability, generosity, service, sharing, giving, loving of others. These are the only things that can produce real value. We define ourselves by these things—or by their opposites.

God has created us to live in a world that is devoid of its own moral compass and He has given us a blank check called life so that we can invest in good or evil or in nothing at all. And when it is over, He will ask us what we did with what He gave us. He will ask "Who are you?"

We are born to sin, and we are destined to encounter the refiner's fire. It has to be like that because fidelity rises from temptation and generosity is engendered by want. Faith comes from fear and uncertainty. Our Father takes sinners and turns them into gold. He uses the fires of this world to create beauty from ashes.

...To give unto them beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness; that they might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the LORD<sup>9</sup>

Behold, I have refined thee...I have chosen thee in the furnace of affliction.<sup>10</sup>

And I will ... refine them as silver is refined, And test them as gold is tested. They will call on My name, And I will answer them; I will say, 'They are My people,' And they will say, 'The LORD is my God'<sup>11</sup>

9. Isaiah 61:3

10. Isaiah 45:6-10

11. Zechariah 13:8

Drop down, ye heavens, from above, and let the skies pour down righteousness: let the earth open, and let them bring forth salvation, and let righteousness spring up together; I the Lord have created it.<sup>12</sup>

It will come about in all the land,” Declares the LORD, “That two parts in it will be cut off and perish; But the third will be left in it.” And I will bring the third part through the fire, Refine them as silver is refined, And test them as gold is tested. They will call on My name, And I will answer them; I will say, ‘They are My people,’ And they will say, ‘The LORD is my God<sup>13</sup>

God is in the business of transforming bad to good, tragedy to ecstasy and the internal void filled with the presence of God Himself.

In us, He has taken a step beyond simple creation and created a living being that can itself create good. And He has imbued us with all of the elements necessary to do this. He has given us both free will and a sin nature so that when we choose right it is significant. He gives us opportunity to choose the right and shun the wrong and thereby create an instance of righteousness—a commodity which is of immense value in His eyes. We are the instruments of good, the vessels of His righteousness. We are the beauty that He has created. We are the gold that has been purged from the dross.

It is difficult to understand this when we experience heat of the refiner’s fire. But we are told not to question His wisdom:

Woe unto him that striveth with his Maker! Let the potsherds strive with the potsherds of the earth. Shall the clay say to Him that fashioneth it, what makest thou? Or Thy work, He hath no hands?

Woe unto him that saith unto his father, what begettest thou? Or to the woman, what hast thou brought forth?<sup>14</sup>

12. Isaiah 45:8

13. Zechariah 13:8

14. Isaiah 45:6-10

The concept of righteousness may seem obscure to many, but to God, it is massive. God values righteousness exceedingly,<sup>15†</sup> and He hates unrighteousness.<sup>16</sup> Righteousness, or rather the lack of it, was the reason for the fall of man; it is the reason for eternal judgment—eternal life or eternal death—and it is the reason for the Crucifixion of Jesus Christ.

When He looks upon us, He does not see our body, but our heart. He sees our intent and our sincerity<sup>17</sup> and He understands that He has created us as imperfect beings.<sup>18</sup> And He searches our heart and deals with us according to what He sees<sup>19</sup> and He is patient with our failings.

Anyone who does not recognize how important righteousness is to God does not know God.<sup>20</sup> Righteousness now, in this life is overwhelmingly important. The decision to accept the righteousness of Christ results in eternal life,<sup>21</sup> and the decision not to accept the righteousness of Christ results in eternal death.<sup>22</sup> Obedience to God's Word may seem irrelevant to this fallen world, but in reality it is everything.

John 14:23 "Jesus answered and said to him, 'If anyone loves Me, he will keep My word; and My Father will love him, and We will come to him and make Our abode with him.'" † Here Jesus is saying that those who obey His commands (righteousness) will enjoy the presence of God. Ezekiel 3:20 "When the righteous turneth away from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity, and doeth according to all the abominations that the wicked man doeth, shall he live? God intends righteousness to be obscured with the temptations of the world.<sup>23</sup> Without obscurity there is no issue to wrestle with; there is no choice, and without choice there is no righteousness. Righteousness is making a free choice to hear and to obey His words in the face of adversity, rather than choosing not hear and not to obey and capitulating to sin.<sup>24</sup>

God has created us so that we ourselves can create righteousness and become the vessel of God Himself<sup>25</sup> and become both righteous and eternal. He has not created us to spend a lifetime churning self-aggrandizement like a mouse running in a golden spinning wheel. We were not created to wander through this world in search of wealth, power and pleasure—or stoicism. We were created in His image. We are created to create. We were created to be branches of the vine of Christ, creating the fruit of righteousness.

I am the vine. You are the branches. He who abides in Me and I in him, he bears much fruit, for apart from Me you can do nothing.<sup>26</sup>

The impact of the scripture quoted here does not strike the reader until the reader understands that vines do not bear fruit. Only branches bear fruit. We can do nothing without Christ, but it is we who bear the fruit. We are the fruit-bearers created in His image.

26. John 15:5

We have been gifted with the inestimable honor of being able to create instances of good that would not exist without our choices. And, unlike sin which results in spiritual death,<sup>27</sup> the righteousness that we create results in life and peace.<sup>28</sup> It is eternal:

As the whirlwind passeth, so is the wicked no more:
but the righteous is an everlasting foundation.<sup>29</sup>

... the righteous [shall go into] life eternal.<sup>30</sup>

...as sin hath reigned unto death, even so might

Within scripture's continually reiterated concept of righteousness and obedience, God weaves numerous and specific facets. Among these facets are love (God is love<sup>32</sup>), honesty,<sup>33</sup> integrity,<sup>34</sup> fidelity,<sup>35</sup> courage,<sup>36</sup> diligence,<sup>37</sup> love, joy, peace, patience, gentleness, goodness, faith, humility, temperance [self-control]<sup>38</sup> kindness,<sup>39</sup> and others.

As we assimilate these qualities, they become consistent patterns of behavior within us and we become that person. These patterns of behavior are called virtues. Virtues are expressions of righteousness. These virtues are life<sup>40</sup> and they are eternal.<sup>41</sup> But they cannot exist without their counterparts.

Righteousness and virtue are by far the most prevalent aspects of all scripture. In the Old Testament, righteousness permeates the scripture from Cain and Able<sup>42</sup> to Judges;<sup>43</sup> it stretches from the Ten Commandments<sup>44</sup> to the prophet Malachi.<sup>45</sup> Righteousness is the reason for the God created man exactly the way he is—and permitted him to fall—for a reason.

Chapter 4

Righteousness is Eternal

RIGHTEOUSNESS IS FORGED ON THE
ANVIL OF ADVERSITY

One of the primary purposes of the post resurrection ministry of Christ—if not the primary purpose—is not simply to give us the free gift of salvation, but also to enable us to bear fruit. And the fruit that we are to bear is the fruit of the Spirit and that fruit is righteousness:

But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance...<sup>1</sup>

We have been chosen for the express purpose of bearing not just fruit, but permanent fruit:

Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain...<sup>2</sup>

He is building us, constructing us to be bearers of this fruit. He is constructing us; we are God's building:

For we are laborers together with God: ye are God's husbandry; ye are God's building.<sup>3</sup>

We can bear fruit only when we are connected to Christ, but without that connection we can do nothing of eternal value.

"I am the vine, you are the branches; he who abides in Me and I in him, he bears much fruit, for apart
from Me you can do nothing."<sup>4</sup>

And when we know Him and bear the fruits of righteousness, we partake of the divine nature.

---

1. Galatians 5:22. These are the qualities that we are to pursue.

2. John 15:16.

3. 1 Corinthians 3:9

4. John 15:15

For by these He has granted to us His precious and magnificent promises, in order that by them you might become partakers of the divine nature having escaped the corruption that is in the world by lust.<sup>5</sup>

The sum of it all is that He gives us eternal life that begins now and never ends. Our bodies will die, but our true selves, the spiritual part of us, will never die because he who does the will of God will never die:

For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world. And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever.<sup>6†</sup>

We are the branches of the vine of God created to bear Him fruit.<sup>7</sup> God has foreknown us and predestined us to be conformed to (made into) the image of righteousness (Christ).<sup>8</sup> But He does not call us to an empty obedience with nothing more than a hope for a rewarding after-life. He calls us to a life of actually knowing God in the here and now and knowing God is accomplished by bearing fruit.

He who has My commandments and keeps them, he is who loves Me; and he who loves Me shall be loved by My Father, and I will love him, and will disclose Myself to him.<sup>9</sup>

Knowing God is more than a spiritual relationship To know Christ is to experience eternal life now.

And this is eternal life, that they may know Thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom Thou hast sent.<sup>10†</sup>

We were created for many reasons, but one of the most important reasons is to know Christ and in knowing Him to bear the eternal fruits of righteousness.<sup>11</sup> In the actual and experiential knowledge of Jesus Christ we receive everything that pertains to life and godliness:

His divine power has granted to us everything pertaining to life and godliness through the true knowledge of Him...<sup>12</sup>

Thus, we have His eternal spiritual life and we have access to everything that pertains to life (eternal life) and godliness. It is with these supernatural tools that we work with Him to construct a edifice of spiritual good, a building of righteousness, God building:

For we are God's fellow workers; you are God's field, God's building.<sup>13</sup>

But life is not an easy road and it was never intended to be, not for us and certainly not for Christ. But it is a necessary one; and adversity is a principal part of it. Perhaps this concept is best encapsulated in a statement that Jesus makes to Peter, the Apostle:

Simon, Simon behold, Satan had desired to have you, that he may sift you as wheat: But I have prayed for thee, that thy faith fail not...<sup>14</sup>

Satan desired to sift Peter as wheat and apparently received leave to do so. Jesus was quick to pray for Peter, but what did He pray? Much like John the Baptist whom Jesus did not save from a cruel death, Jesus neither delivered nor prayed for the deliverance of Peter from the hand of Satan.

Instead, Jesus prayed that Peter's faith would not fail. Why does He not pray that Peter would be spared?? Because Peter's faith was supposed to be tried. When we look at this through the lens of the world, we see God as leaving Peter to be harmed. But remove the lens and we see that

12. Second Peter 1:3. Also see Second Corinthians 3:18 "But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord."

14. Luke 22:31.

Satan's sifting was allowed because Peter had to stand in spite of it. And as he stood for all of his years, he became a pillar of Christ's ministry on earth. How else but through adversity could this fisherman-turned-evangelist have obtained the faith and courage necessary to become the pillar of evangelism that gospel and the opportunity to know God to the entire world?<sup>15</sup> Without the pain and struggle Peter would have been no more than a name memorialized by someone else and much that he accomplished would never have been done.

It is for this reason that the issue that Christ addresses in His prayer was not the pain that was coming to Peter, but how Peter would respond to it. Would he turn from his faith or would he emerge with a faith made stronger by having withstood the onslaught of Satan himself?

It is edifying to consider that in permitting Satan to sift Peter like wheat, God was addressing something, some shortfall, in Peter that had to be removed. If Peter had known the problem, could he have corrected it by obedience and thereby avoided the resulting pain? Is that possible? Not only is it possible but scripture is filled with admonitions to do exactly that.<sup>16</sup>

Much tragedy can be avoided by yielding our will to His. What choice will a man make when faced with inevitable tragedy? Will he surrender his will to God? Will he remain honest or will he deny his faith? Will he leave his family? Will he take revenge? Will he refuse to forgive? Will he kill, as Cain did when God rejected his sacrifice?<sup>17</sup> The choices that we make define us forever—precisely the way Cain has been forever defined. What we do in this life can never be undone. It can be forgiven<sup>18</sup> and a sinner may be rehabilitated and made into a new creature,<sup>19</sup> but the opportunity to be an author of righteousness in the face of that particular temptation ends at the moment of choice.

Remove the requirement to choose by removing adversity from mankind and man is no longer man. Without choice or challenge man becomes a pretender reading scripts upon a stage. He is no more real than an actor speaking courageous pretense—faking courage without fear, receiving honor without price, working without effort or loving without passion. Remove temptation and adversity and real choices disappear. Without adversity we become no more significant than shadows that flicker across a cinema screen. Turn off the projector and they disappear.

Choosing is what righteousness really is; it is choosing the right solely because it is right. And each right choice that we make is a golden brick in God's eternal construction. Each wrong choice is just another board hammered on, a board that will later be burned:

Now if any man build upon this foundation of gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, stubble—Every man's work shall be made manifest; for the day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by fire; and the fire shall try every man's work of what sort it is. If any man's work abide which he hath build upon it, he shall receive a reward. If any man's work shall be burned, he shall suffer loss; but he himself shall be saved, yet as by fire.<sup>20</sup>

Scripture defines choices of good or evil as choices between darkness and light<sup>21</sup> and scripture defines the damned as those who loved darkness rather than light:

And this is the condemnation, that light [Christ] is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil.<sup>22</sup>

Note the care with which the above scripture is written. The damned did not do evil deeds because they loved darkness; it was the other way around. They loved darkness because they committed evil deeds. Their choice came first and what they did determined who they were. What we do determines what we love and we define what we love by what we do.

Now consider the very practical effect of these truths on our lives. Consider the promiscuity of this age. The enlightened man or woman who embraces the sexual promiscuity of the world is defining what he or she loves. The more sin, the deeper the effect of sin becomes until ultimately true love and fidelity to a righteous spouse becomes more and more distant. And the question of who one loves becomes the question who can one love.<sup>23</sup>

Sin is the opposite of righteousness; sin kills. Sin kills righteousness; sin kills spiritual things, sin kills relationships including our relationship with Christ.<sup>24</sup>† Sin kills. It cuts us off from “all things that pertain to life and godliness.”<sup>25</sup> God does not remain in the presence of repeated sin.<sup>26</sup> Sin causes the branch that continues to sin to become separated from the vine. Separated branches will be burned in the fires of this world. They wither and they die spiritually because they cease to draw life from the vine.<sup>27</sup>

The entire Bible is a warning that sin kills.<sup>28</sup> Here are some of the verses.

27. See Hebrews 6:6. Any branch is perfectly free to dis-attach from the vine and live for the world, but they are of no eternal value. Dis-attached branches can renew themselves through sincere confession of sin (they should use Psalm 51 to do so) and by relinquishing further sin. See First John 1:9. But it is impossible for anyone else to renew them because they have put Christ to "open shame" by their sin. The sinning Christian is most miserable having rejected Christ and yet not a child of the world. Hebrews 6:6 does not refer to the loss of salvation.

28. There are 50 scriptures teaching that sin kills. The ultimate consequence of sin is death, not eternal torment in hell. See the author's Fate of Unbelievers.

Each choice to lie;<sup>29</sup>† each choice to steal;<sup>30</sup> each choice to gossip;<sup>31</sup>† produces another piece of spiritual death. It is gradual and with each instance it is just a little easier to die inside, a little easier to turn away from the light. Justification for sin becomes facilitated as Truth is obscured. Just as repeated sexual sins progressively obscure their own darkness, so do all sins become legitimized—and justified—with their

29. Revelation 21:8 "...all liars shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death." † When, in this verse, the categorizations of sin reach the sin of lying, scripture uses a singular emphasis by referring to all liars."

use. As cogently stated by one unfortunate young person, “I crossed the line just once because I knew I could always step right back. But when I turned around I could hardly believe how far behind me the line was...”

Sin produces spiritual death and we can feel it. It is a void inside.

In the end it is man who produces his own love for darkness. Sinful choices produce the love of darkness and the love of darkness results in God’s condemnation.<sup>32</sup> Jesus Christ is the only solution because the cross is the only thing that can change the inevitable spiritual effect of what we have already done: death. It is the only thing that can make the spiritually dead come alive with life eternal.

...He that heareth My word, and believeth on Him that sent Me, hath everlasting life, and shall not come into condemnation; but is passed from death unto life.”<sup>33</sup>

And just as we can feel the internal void of spiritual death, we can also feel the peace of spiritual life. It is an actual experience. The experience of eternal life is knowing God.

And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent.<sup>34</sup>

It is Christ and Christ alone alone that gives the peace that is beyond comprehension. It is Christ and Christ alone that turns lives around, makes zealots out of agnostics and saints out of atheists. Theology does not do this; a change of opinion does not do this; church going, ceremonies or believing hard enough have no substantial effect. Knowing Christ is not method or philosophy. We are not talking about a change of mind here, or a different philosophy. We are talking miracle pure and simple. We are talking actually knowing Christ and having Him disclose Himself to you in no uncertain terms and we are talking right now:

He who has My commandments and keeps them, he it is who loves Me; and he who loves Me shall be loved by My Father and I will love him and disclose Myself to him.<sup>35</sup>

33. John 5:24

34. John 17:3

35. John 14:21

Every choice has an eternal effect, and God tells us quite frankly that He grows the good and the bad together in this life like a farmer with wheat and weeds in his field.

The world is like a field where both wheat and weeds are growing. Wheat is valuable because it yields nourishment (righteousness). Weeds (weeds) are less than valuable because when eaten, they take the place of wheat and deprive the body of the nourishment that it needs. In the end the weeds will be gathered and burned, but the wheat shall be gathered into God's barn:

Let both grow together until the harvest; and in the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, Gather together first the tares (weeds), and bind them in bundles to burn them, but gather the wheat into My barn.<sup>36</sup>

At that time the righteous shall shine forth as the sun

Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father.<sup>37</sup>

All of the accountings and the rewards at the judgment seat of Christ will arise from a lifetime lived out in this fabric of good and evil, tragedy and ecstasy, dreams and despair that we call mankind. In this fabric, all men are subject to its inherent adversities, temptations, pleasures, contentments, virtues, accomplishments, pains and death. If these adversities did not exist, neither would their righteous counterparts—in which case there would be neither wheat nor weeds.

So, what is God doing by placing mankind in a world filled with adversities? He is doing what He is His nature; He is creating. He is creating us, not only the physical us, but the eternal (spiritual) us. He is weaving a life where the fruits of His Spirit could not exist without threads of adversity, happiness, success, failure, fears, joy, tragedy, peace and faith all of which are carefully woven into the magnificent tapestry of mankind.<sup>38</sup> We are the jewels of His creation made in His image.

37. Matthew 13:43

38. Galatians 5:22 "But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law."

I am the vine, you are the branches; he who abides
in Me and I in him, he bears much fruit, for apart
from Me you can do nothing.<sup>39</sup>

The critical relevance of this verse is sometimes lost in its repetition and familiarity. But the verse reclaims its power when we realize that grapes grow only from branches, not from vines. It is true that without the vine the branches die. But without the branches, there are no grapes and we are the branches. We are His vineyard. We are His harvest!

Chapter 5

Adversity Caused by Sin

BECAUSE OF THEIR INIQUITIES, THEY WERE AFFLICTED

PSALM 107:17.

Much of the adversity that we encounter in life is voluntary. Adversity can be avoided by avoiding sin because adversity is the inevitable result of sin.

Besides its natural consequences, all sin causes spiritual death by destroying our relationship with Christ.<sup>1†</sup> And following the final judgment, sin committed during life results in the second death for the one who reject Christ.<sup>2</sup> The second death can be avoided by Christ and by Christ alone.

Righteousness is not simply doing what seems right or feels right. Righteousness is what God says is right, and one learns what is right by reading scripture—hence the immense importance of Scripture. Scripture is not a theological word game; it is the means to a transformation into a lifetime of immense peace, peace that is experienced. Scripture is a paradigm of honor and morality that is superimposed on life. When we stay within its construct, we are blessed and, if we are believers, we are blessed with the experiential presence of Jesus Christ.<sup>3</sup> When we fail to follow the pattern, we venture into sin and depart from the presence of God.

In scripture we find righteousness and wisdom. Scripture is like a flashlight on a dark path at night. It tells us how to avoid pain before it happens by telling us what sin is and how to it.

Thy word is a lamp unto my feet...<sup>4</sup>

The wisdom of God's word has saved many from significant pain.

---

1. †Sins committed by believers destroy their relationship with Christ because the believers' experiential relationship with Christ in this life is contingent upon righteousness (obedience). One cannot continue to sin and enjoy the presence of the savior. "He who has My commandments and keeps them is the one who loves Me; and he who loves Me will be loved by My Father, and I will love him and will disclose Myself to him." John 14:21

2. See "Appendix" on page 87

3. John 14:21 "He who has My commandments and keeps them, he it is who loves Me; and he who loves Me shall be loved by My Father, and I will love him and will disclose myself [make Myself known] to him."

By the word of thy lips, I have kept me from the paths of the destroyer.<sup>5</sup>

And again:

The entrance of thy words giveth light.<sup>6</sup>

And again:

He that followeth after righteousness and mercy findeth life, righteousness, and honor.<sup>7</sup>

Failure to appreciate the wisdom of scripture has unfortunate consequences:

The man that wandereth out of the way of understanding shall remain in the congregation of the dead.<sup>8</sup>

One does not have to read much scripture to see how adversity can be avoided by obedience. For instance, consider how much pain can be avoided by obeying scriptures such as these:

Do not yoke yourself (in a relationship, a marriage or in partnership) with an unbeliever.<sup>9</sup>

Do not steal.<sup>10</sup>

Do not covet (do not permit yourself to strongly desire something that belongs to another—like his wife or her husband).<sup>11</sup>

19. 1 Corinthians 13:7,8 "[Love] beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things. [love] never fails." This scripture teaches that if it fails, it is not really love.

20. James 1:26 "If any man among you seem to be religious, and bridleth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man's religion is vain."

Do not gossip. Scripture equates gossip with murder and it makes no distinction between gossip that is true and gossip that is false: all gossip, whether true or false is sin.<sup>21</sup> Whoever secretly slanders his neighbor, him I will destroy...<sup>22</sup>

Do not associate with a gossip.<sup>23</sup>

Note that the benefit of some of these warnings is obvious, but some are not. Each person is different. This is why scripture is a lamp unto our feet. It enables us to see wrongs that we do not perceive as wrong. So, should we avoid things that are not readily apparent as sin? Of course. This is faith.

Obedience to scripture produces freedom. That is the reason why people obey scripture. They do not obey it because they are religious or because someone told them to or because they are just plain smart. They obey it because they have discovered what it can do for them.<sup>24†</sup>

Be diligent; work hard.<sup>25</sup>

Don't be wise in your own eyes.<sup>26</sup> Instead embrace humility.

A good man obtains favor of the Lord.<sup>27</sup> So, strive to be a good person.

---

21. Romans 1:28-30 "God gave them over to a reprobate mind ... being filled with all unrighteousness ... full of envy, murder ... malignity; whisperers [gossips], backbiters, haters of God ..." Gossip (slander) is one of the worst of all sins. Scripture places it on the same level as murder.

23. Proverbs 20:19 (NASV)

24. Exodus 20::14 "You shall not commit adultery." † Adulterate means to pollute. Relationships can be polluted with flirtations almost as much as with physical adultery.

26. Proverbs 26:12 "Seest thou a man wise in his own conceit? There is more hope of a fool than of him."

27. Proverbs 12:2 "A good man obtaineth favor of the Lord, but a man of wicked devices will He condemn."

The way of a fool is right in his own eyes.<sup>28</sup> Therefore look to scripture for what is right and what is wrong.

Avoid the results of sin by not committing it.<sup>29</sup>

In the way of righteousness is life.<sup>30</sup> Strive for and grow in righteousness.

A prudent man covers shame.<sup>31</sup> Don't speak of your own shame or the shame of others.

The backslider in heart shall be filled with his own ways.<sup>32</sup> Be careful of whom you make your companion.

The simple believe every word [every word that others may tell him] but the prudent man looketh well to his going.<sup>33</sup> Test everything by scripture.

The fear of the Lord is a fountain of life.<sup>34</sup> So, go to the fountain and drink.

The fear of the Lord creates strong confidence.<sup>35</sup> Fear God and because of this fear, yield to Him and experience what happens when you do.

28. Proverbs 12:15

29. Proverbs 12:21 KJV reads "There shall no evil happen to the wicked, but the wicked shall be filled with mischief." The word that is translated "evil" refers to "sorrow that is the harvest and product of sin." See C.F. Keil and F. Delitzsch, Commentary on the Old Testament, transl. from the German (Eerdmans Pub. 1975) vol. 9, p. 64

30. Proverbs 12:28 "In the way of righteousness is life and in the pathway thereof, there is no death."

31. Proverbs 12:16 "A fool's wrath is presently known: but a prudent man covereth shame."

32. Proverbs 14:14 "The backslider in heart shall be filled with his own ways: and a good man shall be satisfied from himself."

33. Proverbs 14:15 "The simple believe every word, but the prudent man looketh well to his going." This proverb applies to scripture as well as life in general; a close look proves that scripture is reliable and that it is all true.

34. Proverbs 14:27 "The fear of the Lord is a fountain of life, to depart from the snares of death."

35. Proverbs 14:26 "The fear of the Lord is strong confidence..." Fearing God and (therefore) yielding and obeying scripture creates a history of wise decisions, each one of which instills understanding and confidence in scripture."

Scripture teaches us to be just plain smart. For instance, it teaches us to look ahead for the threat to come and avoid it:

A prudent man foreseeeth the evil and hideth himself:
but the simple pass on and are punished.<sup>36</sup>

It teaches us to protect our good name:

A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches,
and loving favor than silver and gold.<sup>37</sup>

It teaches not to be contrary, mischievous person:

Thorns and snares are in the way of the froward. He that doth keep his soul shall be far from them.<sup>38</sup>

And perhaps most importantly it teaches us to embrace humility:

By humility and fear of the Lord are riches, honor and life.<sup>39</sup>

Humility is the bedrock of practically all virtues. It is the lens that lets one see truth through the cloud of pride. Humility is not the absence of self-respect. It is the door to wisdom.

Adversity in Relationships

THE GULLIBLE HEART

Scripture is like a map that illuminates the sometimes murky waters of relationships:

Make no friendship with an angry man [or woman]; and with a furious man thou shalt not go.<sup>1</sup>

Avoid the immoral woman [or man].<sup>2</sup>

Avoid liars.<sup>3</sup>

Don't reprove a scorner, because he will hate you for it; but reprove a wise man and he will love you.<sup>4</sup>

Avoid the gossip;<sup>5</sup> don't be a gossip.<sup>6</sup> Gossip is a sin that God places on a level equal to murder.<sup>7</sup>

He that keeps his mouth keeps his life.<sup>8</sup>

Contention comes by means of pride.<sup>9</sup> Avoid the proud and self-centered.

1. Proverbs 22:24

2. Proverbs 5:3-6 "For the lips of a strange woman drop as a honeycomb, and her mouth is smoother than oil: But her end is bitter as wormwood, and sharp as a two edged sword. Her ways are moveable, that thou canst not know them."

3. Proverbs 6:19 "... the Lord doth hate ... a false witness that speaketh lies, and he that soweth discord among brethren."

4. Proverbs 9:8

5. Proverbs 26:22,23 "Where no wood is, there the fire goeth out; so where there is no talebearer, the strife ceases." Proverbs 20:19 "...do not associate with a gossip." (NASV)

6. Psalm 101:5 "Whosoever privily slandereth his neighbour him will I cut off.

7. Romans 1:29 "Being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness ... murder, debate [contentions], deceit, malignity; wisperers [gossips], backbiters, haters of God..."

8. Proverbs 13:3 "He that keepeth his mouth keepeth his life, but he that openeth wide his lips shall have destruction."

9. Proverbs 12:10 "Only by pride cometh contention: but with the well advised is wisdom."

Fools make a mock of sin.<sup>10</sup> Avoid the fool who mocks sin and thereby mocks righteousness.

Shun pride. “Pride goeth ... before a fall.”<sup>11</sup>

And perhaps the most important:

Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?<sup>12†</sup>

All of these scriptures fit together like the gears of a watch. But they are not written just to be studied; they are written to be lived. And when we live them, their power is expressed. These scriptures are more than just smart. They are the most effective means to avoid adversity in this life. They are the means by which we experience the presence and the power of God.

How do these scriptures open us to the power and presence of God? John 14:21 tells us how to experience His presence through sincerely yielding to Him. We love Him by yielding to Him, by recognizing Him as our God, by obeying Him:

He that hath My commandments, and keepeth them, he it is who loves Me: and he that loveth Me shall be loved of My Father, and I will love him and will manifest Myself to him [I will make Myself known to him].<sup>13</sup>

This verse is simple and powerful. It teaches that God makes Himself known to those who express their love toward Him through obedience. God makes Himself known to those who have His commandments (those who learn what His commandments are) and keep them (those who obey His commandments), those who obey Him as a means of expressing their love for God.

13. John 14:21

We should remember, however, that salvation is a gift, so obedience does not earn us salvation.<sup>14</sup> Salvation is given to all who wish it, but initially it had to be earned because the penalty for sin is death and someone had to die. It was earned and paid for by Jesus Christ at the cost of His life,<sup>15</sup> and, since He earned it, it is His to do with as He chooses. And He chooses to give it away.<sup>16</sup> Because it is His to give, there is nothing that we can do to alter what He does with it. He gives is freely and never takes it back. We can refuse it, but we cannot lose it once we have it.<sup>17</sup>

Salvation is a free gift, but the experience of God's peace and presence is not a gift; it is an opportunity. It is an opportunity to all of those who have trusted in Christ and received the gift of salvation. The experience and the presence of God is acquired by surrender to Him. Surrender, true obedience is the way that we express love back to God and enjoy His presence. His presence is His response to our obedience.

Why is the experiential presence of God not a free gift as well? Why must we obey Him in order to experience His presence? Because each piece of disobedience is sin and therefore the opposite of Jesus Christ. Each sin is a piece of spiritual death;<sup>18</sup> but God is spiritual life:<sup>19</sup> God does not dwell in the presence of continued, willful sin.<sup>20</sup> Sin, by its very nature, obscures evil and we often cannot perceive the danger.

14. Ephesians 2:8 "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God."

15. Romans 5:8 "...while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us." The gift of salvation is therefore Christ's to give, not ours to earn. And Christ chooses to give it to whomever wants it: "And whosoever will let him come take the water of life..." Revelation 22:17.

16. Revelation 22:17 "... And let him that is thirsty come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely. ... And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely. ..."

17. Romans 8:38 "For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, 39Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord."

18. Romans 6:23, "For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life." Ezekiel 18:4 "Behold, all souls are mine; as the soul of the father, so also the soul of the son is mine: the soul that sinneth shall die..."

19. John 14:6 "I am the way, the truth and the life; no man cometh unto the Father, but by Me."

20. John 14:21 "He that hath My commandments, and keepeth them... I will love him and will manifest Myself [make Myself known] to him." In this verse we find the true core of true Christianity: the actual experience of the presence of God. The experience of the presence of God is a spiritual love affair, an experience which, when superimposed upon any life transforms it in to something wonderful. It is this

God saves sinners, that is true, but if those who are saved continue to sin, they will remain separated from him. It does not matter whether the sin is committed by a Christian or not because sin always kills:

...your iniquities have separated you from your God: your sins have hidden His face from you”<sup>21</sup>

And again:

...You are not a God who takes pleasure in wickedness, Nor shall evil dwell with you.”<sup>22</sup>

And again:

Do you not know that the wicked will not inherit the kingdom of God? Do not be deceived....<sup>23</sup>

And again:

...as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God.<sup>24</sup>

Much adversity can be avoided by simply avoiding an unwise or unscriptural relationship in the first place. That is especially true for the marital relationship.

Avoiding the Tragedy of the Unscriptural Marriage

The threshold sin that causes pain in marriage is entering into an unscriptural marriage. An unscriptural marriage is a marriage between two people who are unequally yoked spiritually. Why?

This scripture means do not marry anyone who does not actually know Jesus Christ and who is actually experiencing eternal life (a relationship with Christ).<sup>25</sup> experience that draws men to the well of scripture where every drop is peace. Here, and only here, do we find faith transformed into awareness. Here, in this scripture, is the sum of it all: knowing Him. “This is life eternal, that they might know Thee, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom Thou hast sent.”

21. Isaiah 59:2

22. Psalm 5:4

23. First Corinthians 6:9

24. Galatians 5:21

25. John 17:3 “These words spake Jesus...And this is life eternal, that they might

Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?<sup>26</sup>

Why is this so very important? Because marriage to an unbeliever limits the available intimacy. It renders the deep and spiritual marital intimacy contemplated by scripture to be impossible because the intimacy reflected in scripture is possible only for those who are experiencing the presence of Christ. It is limited to those who are experiencing the presence of Christ because experiencing the presence of Christ is to experience eternal life.<sup>27</sup> And scriptural intimacy is present only when two lovers share that Life. It is only when the two can communicate on that plane that the spiritual intimacy that is found there can be shared.

Of course, the sin of being unequally yoked is easily committed because the embrace of human love makes it easy to believe that one is seeing the entire picture. It makes it appear that nothing will ever change. The warmth of a rare and fulfilling relationship serves to obscure underlying realities. It is for this reason that scripture warns us to guard our heart first.<sup>28</sup>

Love without Christ will inevitably cool. But lovers who both walk with Christ will never cease to love. Why? Because God is love.<sup>29</sup> Wherever God goes He brings love. He can't help it because love is what He is. Anyone who questions this has only to try sincere obedience to God's Word and see what happens. Human love is empowered by the presence of God. It lives in the presence of righteousness. Permit me to repeat this truth just so there is no question about what we are saying: Real, experiential, living, passionate and magnificent human love never dies in the presence of Jesus Christ. It is empowered with a strength beyond itself.<sup>30</sup> So, we are talking endless, powerful actual and experiential male-female sexual human love that never ends. Of course sex ends with age, but with that understanding, yes, we are talking actual, endless love.

know Thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ Whom Thou hast sent.”

30. See Endless Love by the author and published on biblebooks.co.

But the presence of Christ is contingent upon obedience to His word (scripture)<sup>31</sup> and that obedience, especially in the context of an excellent marriage, begins precisely at Matthew 7:1.<sup>32</sup>

It is astounding how much difference obedience to Matthew 7:1 can make to a marriage.<sup>33</sup> Matthew 7:1 is so powerful that after watching it work it is easy to understand why those who ignore it are either ignorant of it or simply find that their family is not worth the trouble. This scripture and forgiveness are keys that preserve families, unless the marriage is plagued with significant sin such as adultery or drunkenness.

Sin can be both covered and resolved by God's presence, but where the mate is either an unbeliever or does not live his or her life in such a way as to invite the actual presence of Christ, the purpose of God is thwarted and the disheartening reality is that God never comes where He is not invited—except in judgment.

Therefore, instead of using the light of passion to discern wisdom and truth, use the lamp of scripture:

Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness<sup>34</sup>

Before a marriage, each party presents a pretty face. But after the marriage, not so much. It is difficult to predict how one will be treated after the marriage, and how one is treated by a spouse after the surrender occurs is everything.

Besides Christ, real human love is perhaps the most beautiful gift that God has ever given to mankind. It is somewhat like the sudden and unexpected flame in an outdoor grill when the fire ignites. But the flames will die without the charcoal because it has to have real substance to counter the realities of life.

34. Second Corinthians 6:14

Let us consider the advantages of yoking one's self with someone who is wholly committed to scripture and surrendered to Christ. A spouse who is surrendered to Christ is someone who:

1. Treats you better than himself or herself.<sup>35</sup>
2. Treats you in the way that he or she would want to be treated.<sup>36</sup> Treats you with patience and kindness. Your mate is someone that is not self centered. He or she never embarrasses you (never acts unseemly), is someone who is rarely provoked to anger; someone who thinks no evil of you and speaks no evil of you. Your mate bears everything and endures everything that you may do. If you are a wife, your husband is someone who would never strike but always take care of you, provide for you and protect you.<sup>37</sup>
4. He or she is edifying to you and intent on building you up and building a family;<sup>38</sup> he or she is...
5. Someone who will always forgive you, and never hold a grudge;<sup>39</sup>
6. Someone who will never criticize you or condemn you even if you deserve it,<sup>40</sup> but may, if you wish to hear it, offer you constructive rebuke.<sup>41</sup> If you are a wife, your husband loves you as his own

8. If you are a husband, your wife will yield to you, commit herself to your home and keep it, recognize your leadership, love you, respect you and never speak ill of you<sup>47</sup> and never criticize or condemn you.<sup>48</sup>

9. The committed mate has no desire to relate to anyone else inappropriately,<sup>49</sup> much less commit adultery. The committed mate will never lie to you<sup>50</sup> or otherwise deceive you.<sup>51</sup>

10. The committed husband will provide for his wife and his children.<sup>52</sup>

It is easy to see how a marriage of equally committed spouses can be exceedingly pleasant.

42. Ephesians 5:28

43. Ephesians 5:25 “Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ loved the church, and gave Himself for it.”

44. 1 Timothy 5:8 “But if any provide not for his own, and specially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel.”

45. Matthew 7:1 “Judge [criticize] not...”

46. 1 Corinthians 13:8 “...love never fails.”

47. Ephesians 5:23 “For the husband is head of the wife, even as Christ is the head of the church: and He is the savior of the body.”

48. Matthew 7:1 “Judge [criticize] not...”

49. First Corinthians 13:5 Love does not “behave itself unseemly.”

50. Revelation 21:8 “...all liars shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death.” Proverbs 19:9 “...he that speaketh lies shall perish.”

51. First Corinthians 6:8 “Nay, ye do wrong, and defraud...”

52. First Timothy 5:8 “But if any provide not for his own, and specially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel.”

It is also easy to see how these virtues will die with the flame of eros if there is no real commitment, no actual knowing Him or sincere yielding to His Word. If one spouse disregards these truths because of an incomplete commitment to scripture, the marriage can be exceedingly and permanently unpleasant:

1. He or she treats himself or herself as more important than you rather than the other way around;
2. Treats you the way that he feels to be personally appropriate rather than how he would himself prefer to be treated, but treats you with patience and kindness sometimes. Your mate is self centered. He or she sometimes embarrasses you and can be provoked to anger; he or she remembers wrongs and sometimes speaks evil of you to third parties. Your mate has clear limitations on the extent to which he or she will cooperate with you and support you. If you are a wife, your husband may be someone who actually strikes you; or he may not provide for you and protect you. He may even require you to provide for him. If you are a husband, you have a wife who is dissatisfied because she does not have the peace of Jesus Christ. She nags and criticizes you.
4. He or she is not intent on building you up and building a family.
5. He or she is someone who will not really forgive, and who holds a grudge against you.
6. He or she criticizes you or condemns you because it feels right and is personally fulfilling. Speaking the truth in love, "tough love" or "constructive criticism" is condemnation in disguise. If you are a wife, your husband is a man who loves you when he needs to. He may well not be self-sacrificing. His goal in life is to ensure his happiness and equanimity, and be provided for; he may be critical.
8. If you are a husband, your wife will not yield to you or recognize your leadership. But instead she believes that yielding to a husband is somehow demeaning and it makes her less than equal. She feels free to speak of you critically to her friends.

9. He or she has to fight a desire to relate to someone else inappropriately. He or she may deceive you.

10. The husband may relies on you, not on himself, to provide for the family.<sup>53</sup>

There is a way to bring this marriage back and save the family. But the way to bring it back is not marriage counselors and methodologies; it is righteousness—yieldedness to God's word. And it starts with scrupulous obedience to Matthew 7:1.

Much adversity — a lifetime of adversity — can be avoided by yielding to Second Corinthians 6:14 and refusing to yoke one's self with an unbeliever.

The husband who loves his wife as Christ loves the church will, through this love, enable his wife to yield to him, treat him with respect, never criticize and never speak ill of him. And the wife who yields to her husband's authority, treats him with respect and never speaks ill of him, or criticizes him will enable her husband to love her sacrificially and keep her and provide for her until the day he dies. She enables him to love her as Christ loves the Church with a love that is so strong and so prevalent and unforced that it is never questioned. Each one inspires the other. They are two lights spinning in the night.

Chapter 7

The Key to an Excellent Marriage

THE KEY TO LOVE

There is really only one secret to an excellent marriage and that is love.<sup>1 †</sup> But how can it be kept alive and how can it be revived?

To be the recipient of the gift of sincere human love is marvelous. To be loved is like listening—transfixed—to a beautiful song, to be carried by its music and lost in its poetry is rare. Indeed, to listen and to truly hear the song is life-altering. But to be the singer is an experience beyond all measure.

Love is like a diamond engagement ring in a young man's pocket. Its only purpose is to be given away.

But what is this thing called love that becomes the center of life but which we can neither create nor acquire on our own? What is this thing that can be the apex of human experience or the deepest of human pain? What is this elusive and beautiful thing? Scripture tells us what it is, and scripture tells us how to acquire it and how to keep it. If we understand what scripture says about it and yield our will to God, we can acquire it and we can keep it.

Let us first consider what love is.

Biblical Greek has four different words for love. But English and some other languages have only one word for love and they use that one word ("love") to translate all of the different kinds of loves in the Bible. So when we read "love" in an English Bible, it could be referring to any one of the loves. If we are to understand what the Bible is saying about love, we must understand what these four loves are and where the words are used because they can't always be distinguished by the context. Three of the loves can often be distinguished by who it is who is loved. But the fourth love is drastically different from the others.

The first love is the love of friends. This Greek word is φιλία, or "philia." This is the word from which we derive "Philedelpia," The City of Brotherly Love. Philea is the love between friends.

1. † See the work entitled Endless Love by the author. This work discusses the scriptural nature of relationships and healing of marital discord and expands upon this chapter.

The second love is the love of family. This Greek word is στοργή, or “storgé.” Storgé is the natural love of parents for children and children for parents and siblings and other family members or between people who found themselves together for some reason.<sup>2</sup>

The third is the love of lovers. This Greek word is έρως, or “eros.” Eros is the romantic love of lovers; it is a love that may or may not be expressed by physical intimacy.

These three loves are human loves and they are given to all of us. They are indeed beautiful, but they are limited as we are limited. They are human loves and they originate in us. But the Fourth Love is different.

The Fourth Love

The fourth love different because it is supernatural.

The fourth love is ἀγάπη, or “agápe.”<sup>3</sup> The distinguishing characteristic of agápe is that it does not require anything in return. It is the purest form of love. Agápe is love that loves the unloveable. It is agápe that brought Jesus to the cross and sacrifice Himself for the sins of the world,<sup>4</sup> which necessarily included the sins committed by the very persons who crucified Him.<sup>5</sup> Agape is supernatural love. We know this because God is supernatural and God is agápe:

...God is Love [agápe]<sup>6</sup>

It is here, at agápe, that the spiritual reality of the presence of God becomes transformed into human experience, where faith becomes perception and where peace passes all understanding.<sup>7</sup> It is here, and only here, that God makes Himself known to us when we express our love to Him by obedience.

Christ tells us plainly how we are to relate to God and how we can know Him:

2. Although this word is not used in scripture, it is included in the Greek language used in Biblical times.

3. Agápe is translated “charity” in the King James Version.

4. First John 2:2 "And he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world."

5. Romans 5:6 "But God commendeth His love [agápe] toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us."

6. First John 4:8

7. Philippians 4:7 " And the peace of God, which surpasses all comprehension, will guard your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus."

"He who has My commandments and keeps them is the one who loves Me; and he who loves Me will be loved by My Father, and I will love him and will disclose Myself to him."<sup>8</sup>

And it results in God making His abode (His home) with us spiritually:

Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love Me, he will keep my words: and My Father will love him, and We will come unto him, and make our abode with him.<sup>9</sup>

Agápe is the oxygen of the experiential presence of God and agape is the key to the other three loves. It is a relationship based upon the expression of our love through obedience. We obey; and He makes Himself known to us. We see Him; we love Him more, and He comes closer. It is a magnificent dynamic, a spiral going upward. To know God is to experience eternal life here and now:

This is eternal life, that they may know You, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom You have sent.<sup>10</sup>

Without love and obedience and forgiveness through Jesus Christ, God does not make Himself known. It is for this reason that those who have never trusted in Christ have absolutely no idea of what really happens to committed, obedient believers. They actually believe that Christianity is simply a matter of believing in God or not.

Our eternal state (condemnation or eternal life) turns on what we love because what we love is what He looks at. Love is what He looks at because He is love (agape):<sup>11</sup>

And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil.<sup>12</sup>

---

8. John 14:21 (NASV)

9. John 14:23

10. John 17:3 (NASV)

11. First John 4:8 "God is love [agape]."

12. John 3:19 " And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil."

Relationships ultimately turn on agape and agape is expressed by obedience. It is like any relationship: love must be expressed. Serving others in various ways is the primary way that we express love to others. Serving God by obeying Him is the way that we express our love to Him. It is the way that we express our appreciation for what Christ did for us. It is the way that we express true worship, and in doing so acknowledge that He is indeed God. God will always be God, but unless we acknowledge by our sincere actions, by our choices, that He is our God, He will respect our choice and He will not be our God. He will be as distant from us as we are from Him. Knowing Him is a spiritual love affair.

Obedience without love is called legalism, and legalism does not provide the predicate necessary for experiential presence of God. God is not interested in us doing everything right. He is interested in us loving Him and loving one another and expressing that love by sincere fidelity, honesty, generosity, kindness, service, encouragement—by expressing that love by righteousness, which is obedience to His word.

The message of these scriptures is crystal clear. One agápes God (loves God) by obeying Him. And obedience means to relinquish sin. Unquestioned obedience is an act of faith and without faith, it is impossible to please Him:

But without faith it is impossible to please Him: for he that cometh to God must believe that He is, and that He is a rewarder of them that diligently seek Him.<sup>13</sup>

First Corinthians 13 describes what agápe is:

Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not agape, I am become as a sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal.

And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not agape, I am nothing.

And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not agape, it profits me nothing.

13. Hebrews 11:6

Agape suffers long, and is kind; agape envies not;
agape vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up,

Does not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinks no evil;

Rejoices not in iniquity, but rejoices in the truth;

Bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, endures all things.

Agape never fails...<sup>14†</sup>

Thus, we see that 1) agápe is extremely important because we are nothing without it; 2) agápe is complete acceptance because it bears all things and 3) agape is completely unconditional because it endures all things. Agape is therefore the “love of all loves.”

The fact that God is this love speaks volumes toward who God is.<sup>15</sup> God is an unconditional lover, and one does not know God without loving:

He that loveth not knoweth not God; for God is love [agape].<sup>16</sup>

This fact has everything to do with marriage because the only thing that can really make a marriage work is love. And we can choose to love by acquiring agápe to light the original fire.

---

14. First Corinthians 13:1-8 † Each instance of "love" in First Corinthians is agápe, so First Corinthians describes agápe. It is for this reason that the love described in First Corinthians 13 seems so very out of reach. It is God's love and it can therefore be acquired only with the presence of God.

15. God certainly has other characteristics as well. But the scriptures that describe these other characteristics generally describe how God acts; they tell of what He does or what He is like. For instance, God is just and punishes sin but He also forgives. He is patient and at the same time He is fearsome. But none of these scriptures say that He is any of those things. There is no scripture that says that God is kindness, or that God is mercy. He is kind and merciful, to be sure, but there is not scripture that says that God is kindness or mercy. There are scriptures saying that God is just, but they do not say that God is justice. Or, a scripture may state that vengeance belongs to Him, but there is no scripture that says God is vengeance. First John 4:8 is the only scripture that states that God is something. And it is immensely significant that the one word that scripture uses to describe what God is—is love, agápe. It is here, at agápe, where we find the most fundamental reality of who He really is and it is here that we can relate to Him.

16. First John 4:8

Why Agape is Important to Marriage

None of the four loves is limited to themselves. For instance, we may love a cousin with both the love of family and the love of friends and in such a case two loves become one greater love. The love of family is enhanced by the love of a friend and vice versa. Or one's spouse may be a best friend as well as a lover.

The same is true for agápe. It can be generalized as well and it can be expressed either by itself or through any of the other three loves. It is like a stem-cell; it can grow into whatever love it finds itself to be. But agápe, being God, is infinitely powerful. Agápe is like a massive reservoir that becomes phileo if the love is of a friend, storge if the love is of family or eros if the love is the love of lovers. Or, in the case of the Christian marriage, Agápe empowers all four loves, so that the Christian lover can love with all four loves at once. Like the miracle of the water changed into wine, agápe mixed with the other (human) loves transforms them into something far greater. For instance, when agape is united with eros it becomes intoxicating. For many this lovely intoxication begins the instant that the lovers kneel down together and go to Him.

Agápe expressed through the love of lovers creates a bond of immense power and iron fidelity; it is a self-sacrificing love that is supernatural. When both spouses possess it and each one loves with it and is loved by it, it becomes impregnable to any external force.<sup>17</sup> It is at once supernatural and emotional; and vulnerable and powerful, peaceful and magnificent. It is intimacy on both the physical and the spiritual planes at the same time. To love with such power and to be loved in return in a righteous Christian marriage is the capstone of all human experience and second only to knowing Christ.

The secret to an excellent marriage is love that knows no bounds, love that is both endless and inexhaustible. Love like this occurs only when agape is mixed with the other three loves. That mixture occurs with righteousness because it is yielding to scripture that opens the door to the presence of God and His agape.

The reader is again directed to the work entitled Endless Love for a deeper study of human love, its loss and its restoration.

Chapter 8

Peace in the Midst of Adversity

AS LONG AS YOU PRACTICE THESE THINGS YOU WILL NEVER STUMBLE

SECOND PETER 1:10

Let us consider two “nevers.”

Both of these nevers are stark departures from perceived reality. They stand on the very outer limits of faith. They are the guardians of internal peace in the midst of adversity.

Although they were written a thousand years apart and for different reasons, both of them strike the same point: righteousness is a shield to the pain of adversity.

We find the first “never” in Psalm 15 (NIV) when it teaches that he who yields to God’s call to righteousness will never be shaken:

Lord, who may dwell in your sacred tent?
Who may live on your holy mountain?
He whose walk is blameless,
who does what is righteous,
who speaks the truth from his heart;
and has no slander on his tongue,
who does his neighbor no wrong
and casts no slur on his fellow man, who despises a vile man
but honors those who fear the LORD, who keeps his oath
even when it hurts,
who lends his money without usury and does not accept a bribe against the innocent.
He who does these things will never be shaken.

We find the second “never” in Second Peter Chapter 1 where we find perhaps the most astounding scripture in all of the bible:

Therefore, brethren, be all the more diligent to make certain about His calling and choosing you; for as long as you practice these things [righteousness], you will never stumble...<sup>1</sup>

---

1. Second Peter 1:10

Note that each of these scriptures speaks directly to actual, experiential divine participation in our lives. Help in the midst of trials comes from the supernatural peace of God:

And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus.<sup>2</sup>

The supernatural peace of God depends on the supernatural presence of God. And the supernatural presence of God depends on our heart: Do we love Him and do we express that love through surrender to His Word? If we do, we find another scripture that speaks directly to God's interaction with us: He makes Himself known to us.

Jesus answered and said unto him, If a man love Me, he will keep my words: and My Father will love him, and We will come unto him, and make our abode with him.<sup>3</sup>

Peace I leave with you, My peace I give unto you: not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.<sup>4</sup>

These things I have spoken unto you, that in Me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world.<sup>5</sup>

The presence of God within is what eternal life is:

And this is life eternal, that they might know Thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, Whom thou hast sent.<sup>6</sup>

Knowing God is experienced in this life now. This is the real power behind Christianity. Knowing God is eternal life and we experience eternal life through Christ:

2. Philippians 4:7

3. John 14:23

4. John 14:25-27

5. John 16:33

6. John 17:3

In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent His only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through Him.<sup>7</sup>

Eternal life is Christ.<sup>8</sup> Without Christ, there is no eternal life. With the gift of eternal life and the promises that accompany it, we became partakers of the divine nature<sup>9</sup> and we experience His life now in this life when He is with us.<sup>10</sup> Here we find a profound truth of Christianity ironically expressed in a worldly parable: It is not what you know but Who you know.

The most tangible characteristic of eternal life in this life is an inner peace that the Christian who is fully committed to obedience to scripture receives directly from God when that Christian surrenders his will to God:

Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth, give I unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.<sup>11</sup>

On the other hand, the most tangible characteristic of disobedience is emptiness, confusion and lack of internal peace.

But the wicked are like the troubled sea, when it cannot rest, whose waters case up mire and dirt. There is no peace, saith my God, to the wicked.<sup>12</sup>

God does not tell us to do anything that He does not empower us to do. Take courage. You are forging ahead into those trials that God, in his own wisdom, has prepared specifically for you. Being troubled is a choice (but not a sin), even in the midst of trials. Freedom from fear is a choice, even when we dying. Certainly , it can be very difficult, if not impossible, but it is our direction, our goal.

11. John 14:27

12. Isaiah 57:20

So what is the alternative when we open our eyes in the morning and face the lion of adversity? The alternative is faith in the very jaws of loss and pain. And the greater the trial, the more difficult that faith becomes. And the more difficult the faith becomes, the greater the significance of our choice to have faith becomes and the stronger we become.

The fear, the lack of faith, the reaction to the pain, and the emotional upheaval is the trial, not the sin. The sin is what we may do as a result of the trial, but forgiveness awaits us when we sin. If one curses God because of the trial, it is a sin, to be sure, but He knows that He is testing you and He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins<sup>13</sup> which have been paid for at the cross.<sup>14</sup> Without the cross He would still forgive as He did before Christ,<sup>15</sup> but the penalty (death) would remain and eternal life would never be ours.

When we refuse, as a matter of our own choice, to yield to the destroyer and sin, God forges us into eternal value. It is in this way that we win. We win when we are crushed in the vice of adversity and we win when we are not. God cannot be out-done. In the end, He awaits us in a place where there is neither death<sup>16</sup> nor tears:

And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away. And He that sat upon the throne said, Behold, I make all things new.<sup>17</sup>

These things I have spoken unto you, that in me ye might have peace. In the world ye shall have tribulation: but be of good cheer; I have overcome the world.<sup>18</sup>

Romans 5: 6,8 “ For when we were yet without strength, in due time Christ died for the ungodly...God commendeth His love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.” First Peter 3:18 “For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that He might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh [the cross], but quickened [made alive] by the Spirit.”

16. Revelation 20:14 “Death and hades [hell] were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death.”

17. Revelation 21:4,5

18. John 16:33

Therefore, faith and obedience are the key to experiencing eternal life and experiencing internal spiritual peace in the midst of tragedy.

The pain of loss and the continuing reality of that pain must be borne and we must endure, but with Christ's help.<sup>19</sup> It is as necessary for us to endure the outrageous happenstance that is part of this life as it was for Christ,<sup>20</sup> except He endured much, much more. He became sin for us.<sup>21</sup>

Righteous choices in the face of adversity are like golden bricks built upon a solid foundation of Christ:

But each one should build with care. For no one can lay any foundation other than the one already laid, which is Jesus Christ. If anyone builds on this foundation using gold, silver, costly stones, wood, hay or straw, their work will be shown for what it is, because the Day will bring it to light. It will be revealed with fire, and the fire will test

Revelation 5:9,10 ""You are worthy to take the scroll and to open its seals, because you were slain, and with your blood you purchased for God persons from every tribe and language and people and nation. You have made them to be a kingdom and priests to serve our God and they will reign on the earth."

the quality of each person's work. If what has been built survives, the builder will receive a reward. If it is burned up, the builder will suffer loss but yet will be saved—even though only as one escaping through the flames.<sup>22</sup>

The bricks become a part of us, a new creature in Christ.<sup>23</sup> They are eternal as we are eternal.<sup>24</sup> Every brick is eternal because it is an act of righteousness.<sup>25</sup> Their value lies in the very fact that they are forged in the fires of adversity. They cost something. Cheap love is worthless. Christ proved that for all of mankind.

So, the adversities that we encounter in this journey are far from meaningless: they define us.

The couple who loses a child and still exercises faith in God has created faith where faith would otherwise have died. The man or woman who experiences the untimely death of a spouse or a sibling can be pressed to the point of ultimate testing and emerge with a faith that is stronger than ever and the internal presence of God that goes with it. The spouse who honors a marital vow and lives out a grim marriage faithfully has honored God and has created fidelity and patience that would not otherwise exist. The man who to his own loss honors his word has created integrity. The woman who bears extreme physical pain and at the same time quietly submits to the will of God will bear the fruits of the Spirit and has inserted a backbone of iron into her faith. The Christian who faces an untimely death with courage and faith creates exactly that: courage and faith where they did not exist before—and takes them both into eternity with him. The disabled child who overcomes, perhaps a Helen Keller or a Joni Erickson Tada, creates cascades of faith, wisdom, inspiration, hope and love to herself and others.

It is certainly true that each of these people may have chosen not to be chosen to be the authors of such good at the cost of such pain. But at the same time, God required no less of His own Son.

What we endure on earth is not endured in vain. We were not created to exist and then to die for no reason. We were not placed here to spin away our precious years in self glorification.

25. Romans 5:21 “...as sin hath reigned unto death, even so might grace reign through righteousness unto eternal life by Jesus Christ our Lord.”

And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to those who are called according to His purpose.<sup>26</sup>

God is in the business of bringing beauty from ashes, joy from mourning and forming us into value from pain:

The spirit of the Lord God is upon me...to comfort all that mourn...to give unto them beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness; that they might be called trees of righteousness, the planting of the Lord...<sup>27</sup>

In order for God to offer to the gift of forgiveness and peace to an immoral humanity He had to pay our death-penalty for sin<sup>28</sup> and become sin for us.<sup>29</sup> But, like our choices in the face of adversity, the price of the cross had to be actually paid before our peace could be real. The cost in physical pain, in death, and in becoming sin for us was immense, but He did pay it. And because He paid it, we have been reconciled with God.<sup>30</sup> But the pains of life will come. Although we can receive His peace in the midst of them, the pain of adversity is still there. And it must be endured. That is the nature of man.

Chapter 9

Confronting Adversity

RESIST THE DEVIL AND HE WILL FLEE FROM YOU

JAMES 4:7

Hiding from an adversity, or denying it, does not make it go away. God has created adversities as a means of forming us in the same way that He formed David. So how we confront adversities is just as important as how we respond to them.

There are numerous scriptures that address generally how we can avoid adversities, but few that speak to how we should deal with them. There are two scriptural means of dealing with adversities: prayer and wisdom. Let us first consider prayer.

Prayer

God is a Spirit,<sup>1</sup> and He communicates spiritually. The means of this communication is prayer (worship) “in Spirit and Truth.”<sup>2</sup> Praying “in spirit” refers to praying from the heart, not simply repeated or unintelligible prayers.

To the Christian, this means more than simply being sincere when we pray. Because when we make a heartfelt commitment to Christ and are obedient to scripture, God, Who is spirit, comes to us and dwells inside of us.<sup>3</sup> So, when we pray, we are not addressing God who is silent or distant; we are addressing God who is within us. We are addressing God who resides inside of us. We are not praying outward; we are praying inward.

Further, this presence of God inside of us is not theoretical, it is experienced; it is “knowing,” actually knowing God,<sup>4</sup> not just believing in God. Simply believing that God exists is of no consequence whatever.<sup>5</sup> Nothing turns on whether we acknowledge God’s existence; everything

3. John 14:23 “If a man love me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him, and We will come unto him, and make our abode with him.” See FOR THOSE WHO QUESTION

5. James 2:19 “Thou believest that there is one God; thou doest well: the devils also believe, and tremble.”

turns on whether we have trusted Christ and whether we actually know Him, because knowing God is what eternal life is.<sup>6</sup> So, when we pray we are communicating spiritually with God who is within us spiritually. This communication, when deep and sincere, is to experience the actual presence of God. It is not theoretical; it is experiential.

The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God.<sup>7</sup>

Paul teaches us to

Be careful [anxious] for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus.<sup>8</sup>

The personal histories of the prayer warriors of the past and present all paint a similar picture. It is as if they see their Christian lives like an expanding globe filled with good. It grows larger and more beautiful daily as they yield to God's will, but the good remains encased in the globe. And as they descend into deeper and deeper prayer, the globe finally breaks. And good, like massive rivers of light, spills over the dams of adversity and fills their entire valley.

Chapter 10

Love and Death

I AM ... THE LIFE
JOHN 4:16

Where is God when we are dying? Where is He when the young die?

Who is this God who both kills<sup>1</sup> and loves?<sup>2</sup> How can these two be reconciled? Here is one explanation.

The first part of the explanation is obvious. We are all mortal and we will all die. It is just a matter of time and only God can determine when that time will be. Some lives are long; some are short. That's just part of life. We all "knew that going in."

The second part of the explanation is more difficult to embrace. The second part of the explanation is that death is not the ultimate tragedy. Death is not the ultimate tragedy because, in addition to the fleeting hours of our mortal life, we, as Christians, have been given eternal life which is the ultimate gift of God who loves us.<sup>3</sup> The ultimate tragedy is to refuse that gift.

Eternal life is given to the soul, not to the body. We know this because all bodies will die whether they are saved or not:

...it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment.<sup>4</sup>

Although bodies will die, all souls will not die:

Let him know, that he which converteth the sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death...<sup>5</sup>

---

1. Luke 12:5 "Fear Him, which after He hath killed hath power to cast into hell."

2. John 8:16 "God is love." John 3:16 "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

3. 1 John 2:25 "And this is the promise that He hath promised us, even eternal life."

4. Hebrews 9:27

5. James 5:20

...everyone who lives and believes in Me [Jesus Christ] will never die.<sup>6</sup>

There is life in righteousness but there is death in sin:

"Behold, all souls are mine; as the soul of the father, so also the soul of the son is mine: the soul that sinneth shall die.<sup>7</sup>

In this passages, the Holy Spirit makes it clear that the soul is not the same thing as the body and that the soul that sins shall die.<sup>8†</sup>

There is a distinction between the body and the soul. This clear line between the two is reiterated throughout scripture: There is a soul and there is a body and who we are is the soul, not the body. We are souls walking around in bodies. We are persons, not bodies.

The most comprehensive delineation of the soul as opposed to the body (as well as the fact that who we really are is the soul) is found in the parable of Lazarus.<sup>9</sup> Lazarus was a beggar who was scorned by a rich man daily. The rich man never gave to Lazarus, even though he could have. Eventually both Lazarus and the rich man died and Lazarus went to the bosom of Abraham but the rich man went to Hades, which is hell, the abode of the dead.<sup>10</sup> Following their death we find that they converse about their life and speak of their respective circumstances.

Thus, the respective souls of these men exist after death and are conversing intelligently and are reaping the results of the choices they made on earth. The bodies are dead and gone. Their bodies are buried, but their souls survived the death of their bodies and their souls are still alive. Ultimately, however, the souls of the unredeemed will die eternally in what scripture calls the "second death."<sup>11</sup>

6. John 11:26

7. Ezekiel 18:4

8. † The Bible contains no scripture that says the soul that sins shall be tormented forever. The soul that sins shall not be tormented forever. The soul that sins shall die.

This word should be distinguished from "hell." See id. s.v. γέεννα "Valley of the sons of Hinnom...the place of punishment..."

11. Revelation 21:8 "... their part will be in the lake that burns with fire and brimstone, which [referring to which part] is the second death." † Scripture refers to "their part" in order to distinguish their part from Satan's part. Their part is eternal death; Satan's part is eternal torment (Rev. 20:10)."

When Jesus gives the parable of Lazarus, He is speaking of the souls as being the very persons whose bodies have died. Who they were was not their bodies. Who they were, their thoughts, their desires, their loves and all of the non-physical aspects of them was who they were and all of who they were is embodied in their souls.

The fact that the dead are not simply the dead physical bodies can be seen by the scriptures that teach of the resurrection of the bodies of the just (the first resurrection)<sup>12</sup> and resurrection of the unjust (the second resurrection).<sup>13</sup> Everyone will be resurrected and reunited with their bodies. But one group will be resurrected for eternal life and the other for eternal death following the final judgment.<sup>14</sup>

Paul differentiates between the body and the soul in Romans 7 when he speaks of the “inward man” and the “flesh.” He laments the influence of the flesh (sin) on the inward man (the soul). Paul clarifies that the person that he really is the inward man, but sometimes the inward man serves the law of his members (sin):

For I delight in the law of God after the inward man: but I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members.<sup>15</sup>

He wishes to be delivered from the effect of this “body of death” and, indeed, he has found the answer in Jesus Christ:

O wretched man that I am! Who shall deliver me from the body of this death? I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord. So then with the mind I myself serve the law of God; but with the flesh the law of sin.<sup>16</sup>

---

12. Revelation 20:4-6 “... I saw the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God...But the rest of the dead lived no again until the thousand years were finished. This is the first resurrection. Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection: on such the second death hath no power...”

13. John 5:29 “And shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation.”

14. Scriptures teaches that the final state of the unredeemed is eternal death (the second death), not eternal torment. Eternal torment is reserved for Satan, the anti-christ and the false prophet. See A SCRIPTURAL DISCUSSION OF HELL.

15. Romans 7:22, 23

16. Romans 7:24, 25

The effect of death is to deprive the body of life, not to deprive the soul of life. So there are two deaths. The first death is the death of the body and the second death is the death of the soul.

By coming to Christ we can avoid the second death but not the first. That is why Jesus Christ is so important. Salvation is when we turn to Christ and trust in Him for the forgiveness of all sin. If we do that then He gives us eternal life. If we (our soul) has eternal life it cannot have a second death.

We are not sparks of life that begin with a Darwinian accident and end in dust. We are souls created by a Creator and we will live for eternity if we drink from the well of eternal life offered by Christ.<sup>17</sup>

Whosoever drinketh of this water that I shall give him shall never thirst: but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life.<sup>18</sup>

It is most comforting and enlightening to contemplate the difference between the body and the soul. The concept is etched into scripture and when we permit scripture to alter our perspective, we find that it is no longer necessary to mysticize the concept of eternal life, or to lament the tragedy of an untimely death, or indeed, to fear our own death.

We Are God's Vinyard

God has placed us in a world that is a moral free-for-all and He has done it for a reason. It is no accident that we are forced to make difficult choices and endure pain. There is a reason for it, and that reason is that in this way alone can He create eternal value. We are the branches that bear the grapes of righteousness in His vinyard.

I am the vine and you are the branches; he who abides [stays] in Me, and I in him, he bears much fruit; for apart from Me you can do nothing.<sup>19</sup>

17. John 4:14 " But whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water that I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life."

18. John 4:14

19. John 15:5

We become what we freely choose. And we cannot freely choose unless both options confront us: both good and bad. We live in a world of moral light and moral darkness. Ultimately morality is the center of it all and we must choose:

And this is the condemnation, that light is come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil...he that doeth truth cometh to the light...<sup>20</sup>

Eternal Life

The soul is dead because of sin unless Christ makes it alive by paying the penalty for sin:

And you, being dead in your sins and the uncircumcision of your flesh, hath he quickened [made alive] together with Him, having forgiven you all trespasses...<sup>21</sup>

And you hath He quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins...<sup>22</sup>

The soul that sinneth, it shall die.<sup>23</sup>

And how do we know that our soul has become alive? When a dead soul becomes alive—and avoids immoral acts—it experiences the presence of the Creator:

He that hath My commandments and keepeth them, he it is that loveth Me: and he that loveth Me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest Myself to him.<sup>24</sup>

20. John 3:19,21

21. Colossians 2:13

22. Ephesians 2:1

23. Ezekiel 18:20

24. John 14:21

Eternal life is therefore not simply an extension of mortal life. It is an experience. It is spiritual life and it is an entirely different life from our physical life. That is the reason why the experience is called being "born again."<sup>25</sup> It is spiritual life that we receive before the body dies and spiritual life is intended to be experienced.

Mortal life has a beginning and it has an end. Eternal life does not. Eternal life, being eternal, has neither beginning nor end. Eternal life has a point of commencement for us because we receive it at one point in time, but what we receive is eternal life, life that never began: we receive Christ's life.<sup>26</sup> Eternal life in Christ is therefore not simply an extension of mortal life; it is something entirely different.

Eternal life is a supernatural life that is superimposed on mortal life and lived and experienced in this life and thereafter. Eternal life is knowing God.<sup>27</sup> We experience this life until we mar it with immorality and sin. It is a marvelous life that must be experienced to be comprehended:

"In Him was life; and the life was the light of men.
And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not."<sup>28</sup>

One day the mortal life of the Christian will end. But as frightening as it may be, it is not the ultimate adversity. It is the ultimate release.

For the Christian, the day of his death will be like the lady who returned to her home on a cold day. She is tired, and rather than hanging up her old coat, she walks into warmth of her home, drops her arms to her side and lets the coat slip to the floor behind her. But the real person, the real she, walks on. That is death for the Christian. The body slips away, but the person, the real person continues on. That is what Christ meant when He said, "I give eternal life to them, and they will never perish."<sup>29</sup> He did not mean that our bodies would never die. He meant that our souls will never die. Our stay here is temporary. It always has been. We knew that going in.

Hope for the Unredeemed

What of the man, the son or the daughter who dies apparently without accepting Christ and without receiving eternal life?

We know first that God is in control<sup>30</sup> so no matter what the deceased had done or said before his demise, he or she may have been saved. God is not limited by the uninformed choices of man. Salvation that occurs moments before death is no more limited than the boundaries of God's omnipotence. God is limited by neither time nor circumstance. He is not limited by the roller-coaster of youth, the depth of a depression, the death of love or the bullet of an assailant. And He will not permit one pebble on the coast of His eternity to be misplaced by the thoughtless designs of anyone. All good, all evil and all else are under His just control. There is always hope for salvation.

A man or a woman, however, who does die without Christ does not face an eternity in the flames of hell. After the body dies, the soul faces a stay in hell, which may or may not be horrendous, depending upon the sins committed during life. Each person will be judged by a just God based upon what he did in life.<sup>31</sup> But in the end his soul will die.<sup>32</sup>

Many evangelical churches teach that those who do not turn to Christ during this lifetime will be sentenced to be tormented for eternity. There is no scripture that makes this statement. On the contrary, scripture repeatedly states that the inescapable result of sin is death, not eternal torment.<sup>33</sup>

If you are the parent, the spouse or friend of someone who rejected Christ to his dying breath, you still do not know that he was not saved. But even if he was not, you may rest assured that although he will be judged for his sins, he will be rightly judged and he will not be burned in hell forever.

Chapter 11

Christ in Pain

GOD HAS NOT EXEMPTED HIMSELF FROM PAIN

Although scripture makes it clear that God is the ultimate cause of all things, including pain, it is likewise clear that God did not spare Himself from either physical or spiritual pain.<sup>1</sup>

God's justice is inevitable and sin results in death. For those of us who have committed sin, it is either the death of Christ or our own death. Our choice.

Perhaps one of the most profoundly illuminating scriptures relating to the issue of pain in this life is found in Revelation 5. This passage is an analogy, a story, that teaches the depth of the effect of the cross. It seems that the time had come in heaven to open the book containing the decrees of God, because the end of mankind was fast approaching. But not just anyone could open the book. Only someone with the proper credentials could open it. So, heaven was searched in an effort to locate someone who had the credentials to break the seal so the book could be read. There was only one person who had the credentials to do that and that person was Jesus Christ.

It is certainly not surprising that Christ had the credentials to open the scrolls. But what is very surprising is why He had the credentials to open them. This scripture says that Christ had the credentials to open the scrolls because He was slain.

Thou art worthy to take the book and to open the seals thereof: for thou wast slain and hast redeemed us ...<sup>2</sup>

This passage does not give any other reason for Christ's qualification. It does not say that Christ had the credentials because He is the Son of God,<sup>3</sup> or because He is divine,<sup>4</sup> because He is second person of the Trinity, or because He is the light of the world,<sup>5</sup> or because He is God incarnate as a man.<sup>6</sup> Nothing was said of the fact that all things had been made through Him.<sup>7</sup> He was and is all of those things, but none of them is the reason why He was worthy to open the scroll. Scripture gives only one reason and that reason is because he was slain.

The point is that He had to actually do it.

He had to suffer. He had to actually die the death. God the Father did not simply decree by divine fiat that the sins of the world were forgiven. Instead, He required Christ had to become sin for us<sup>8</sup> and to die the death Himself to satisfy divine justice and exculpate man from the inevitable end: eternal death.

Pain is therefore universal and inevitable and we have to actually do it. God does not exempt Himself from it. And we who are made in His image are required to suffer as well. When we do, let us remember that God did not exempt Himself from pain, excruciating pain.

He has a reason for it. By the use of pain, God creates eternal value in us. By the use of pain He created eternal value in the cross. And in both instances it has to be actually done.

We live in a moral universe filled with sin. Pain is inevitable.

The crucifixion is an overwhelming statement of How God sees both sin and righteousness. Sin is death; righteousness is life. At the cross Christ died as the result of the sins of others (us) and was later resurrected to eternal life because of His own righteousness and divinity. Therefore, the cross is the ultimate statement of the truth that the wages of sin is death<sup>9</sup> and that the fruit of righteousness in Christ is eternal life.<sup>10</sup>

All who have placed their trust in Christ for the forgiveness of their sins have appropriated Christ's voluntary<sup>11</sup> sacrifice for the payment of their sins. They are in Christ and they will never die because they have eternal life.<sup>12</sup> This gift of eternal life is free for the taking<sup>13</sup> for whoever wants it.<sup>14</sup> It is free, because only Christ could earn it and only Christ did earn it,<sup>15</sup> and He can therefore do with it as He chooses. And He chooses to give it to whoever will take it.<sup>16</sup> Once given, the gift can never be lost because no man, no matter what he does, has either the authority or the power to alter what God has already done.<sup>17</sup>†

In order to give us this gift, God did not exempt Himself from pain. He had a cross to bear, and we, who are made in His image also have a cross to bear. Let us bear it well.

Evangelism is useless for him. However, the person himself can always repent (First John 1:9). But repentance for Christian is unrelated to salvation; it is instead related to knowing God and experiencing God's presence and peace (John 14:21,23). The more the Christian sins, the more he departs from the presence of Christ and the he will "bear thorns and briers" rather than the fruits of righteousness. This person is a back-slider and eventually he will lose all semblance of Christianity and become useless to God's overall purpose which is for us to become branches attached to the vine of Christ and bear the fruits of righteousness. The reference to the burning in Hebrews 6:8 when the back-slider is "nigh unto cursing" does not refer to hell, but instead to the standard procedure in vineyards where dead branches are snapped off and burned.

Chapter 12

Conclusion

We do not live an accidental life that is defined by the span between a birth and a death. We are here for a purpose. We have been created by our Creator. We are not accidents of evolution in a universe of night. We are here for a reason. We have been made by the Creator for the purpose of bearing the fruits of righteousness; we are branches in the vineyard of God yielding fruits of righteousness. We are making honor, truth, kindness, wisdom, faith, love...we are expressing Jesus Christ, we are vessels of the divine nature.

We are creating eternal value.

But if what we create is to be significant, righteousness has to be a choice. It is a choice to do right in the face of trials and temptations. It is a choice to do right in the midst of pain, the choice to do right when all the world is telling us to do the opposite. Ultimately it is the choice to do right for one reason and one reason alone: because God has told us to. These choices define us. These choices are who we are. God creates us. But our choices define us. It is ultimately our choice to be conformed to the image of Christ or to be conformed to the image of the world.

He places us in an environment of adversities where He does not impose His will on us. He gives us an even playing field. He creates a world where righteous choices mean something because wrong ones can be easier, a world where right choices can be difficult. He places us in a world where we make a lifetime of choices each of which is morally right or morally wrong or morally neutral, and we live with the consequences. We live with who we are.

He places us in an environment where He does not impose Himself on us because He has created us to love and if we are to love we must have the freedom not to love. He has created us to love because He is love.<sup>1</sup> He has created us to express love, acceptance without judgment. When we express this love we are expressing Him because He is love. We are the branches in His vineyard; we are the ones whom He has chosen to yield the grapes of His righteousness, to feed His hungry children, to give water to his chosen, to carry the divine nature in imperfect vessels, to be light and salt in a dead world, to live in Him and to speak His Truth. And it is never too late.

1. First John 4:8 "...God is love."

In the end, when each of us must face the prospect of an eternity of endless death or endless life, we look back over our years and see that all of our life has fashioned us. What we did with all of the good and all of the bad, with all of the ecstasies and all of the pain, it has made us into who we are.

God created us in His image and that creation did not end when we were born. It had just begun.

Chapter 13

For Those Who Question

KNOWING GOD.

Why believe anything the Bible says? Is it not just a book of Jewish myths?

Indeed, how can anyone really believe in God? Don't we all live a life without really knowing whether God is there or not? God is invisible, intangible and silent. How can anyone believe that He exists?

These are valid questions and they deserve answers.

There are, of course, volumes written both for and against the validity and the truth of scripture. But most people do not read them before they come to believe that the Bible is true. There are many more volumes written about the existence or the non-existence of God, but practically no one bothers to read them before making a decision for Christ. How can anyone make a rational decision about God?

The answer is quite simple. They try it. Books don't help. Being religious does not help. Pretending to believe does not help. Only God can show you that He is real. And if He doesn't, you will simply never know. It is as simple and as terrible as that.

He who has the Son has the life; he who does not have the Son of God does not have the life.<sup>1</sup>

But if God is God, then He is perfectly capable of making Himself known in no uncertain terms to anyone and everyone — and known in such a way that it is clear that the knowledge of Him is actual and not simply an intellectual conclusion or a psychological “crutch” constructed by a needy mind.

So, why does He not make Himself actually known? The answer is that He does make Himself known. That is the reason that there are so many committed Christians.

But it is by invitation only. He issues the invitation, and we must accept it. If we don't accept the invitation, we can't go to the party.

---

1. First John 5:12

The invitation is issued to all.<sup>2</sup> So you are invited. You may choose to accept the invitation or you may decline it. Your choice — it is always your choice.

What must you do to accept the invitation? First the acceptance of the invitation must be sincere, because if God is God, He is going to know your heart. You must, in good faith, intend to accept the forgiveness offered by Jesus Christ. You must mean what you say to Him (there are no magic words here). And all the faith that is necessary is the faith to trust in Jesus Christ sincerely for the forgiveness of all sin, even though you are really not sure He is even there.

And ye shall seek me, and find me, when ye shall search for me with all your heart.<sup>3</sup>

Note that this scripture does not say to trust in Him because you are certain, or because you just believe, or because someone told you to trust. It says to be sincere; trust "with all your heart."

One does not know God and then trust in Christ. One trusts in Christ in order to know God. Knowing God comes as a result of trusting, not vice versa. You don't look for and find God like finding a lost car-key. You don't find God. God finds you. So, don't expect to know God or really anything about Him until you come to Christ. You can't know Him until He discloses Himself to you.

Don't fall for the lie that tells you that this act of faith is "intellectually impossible" or that it is somehow a "violation of who you really are" or that it is simply "unreasonable." If you sincerely trust in Christ for the forgiveness of all sin and that trust is foolishness, then you have lost nothing. But if you fail to trust in Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of all sin and it is not foolishness then you have lost everything.

When Christ was sacrificed on the cross, He paid for all of our sins (past, present and future). He was later resurrected demonstrating that His sacrifice was effective and that the penalty for sin had been paid.<sup>4</sup>

---

2. John 3:16 "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

3. Jeremiah 29:13

4. This is called the "gospel," or "good news."

We become forgiven and sinless in God's eyes when we appropriate the work of Christ on the Cross by our decision to rely upon what He did there for us. That is absolutely all we have to do to be cleansed from sin. There is no penance to pay (He paid it all), no hail-Mary's, no priest, no preacher, no confessor. Just you and Him:

Believe [trust] on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved.<sup>5</sup>

And we must all be cleansed from sin in order to become someone to whom God will disclose Himself. That cleansing occurs when we come to Christ.

So, to accept the invitation all you have to do is to honestly trust in Jesus Christ. You don't have to know that it is true in order to try it. One can know that God is real only after God discloses Himself.<sup>6</sup>

Knowing Him is the gift of eternal life:

And this is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent.<sup>7</sup>

So, after you have trusted in Christ (salvation), when does He disclose Himself to you?

He discloses Himself to you when you yield your will to His and obey His word.

He that hath my commandments and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him.<sup>8</sup>

If a man love Me, he will keep my words: and my Father will love him and We will come unto him, and make our abode with him.<sup>9</sup>

---

5. Acts 16:31. The words "believe on" mean to "trust in."

6. John 14:21 "He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself [show myself] to him."

7. John 17:3

8. John 14:21

9. John 14:23

God's gift of eternal life comes when you trust in Christ. This is the gift of salvation and it is an unconditional free gift, free for the asking. But knowing God — having Him disclose Himself to you — is conditional. It is conditioned on how much you have yielded to Him, or how you intend to live your life conforming to His Word. If you surrender your will to Christ, He will disclose Himself to you. When He discloses Himself to you, you will love Him and discover that all that you never believed was true really is true.

If you do not obey His word, He will not make Himself known to you. Why? Because God does not dwell with those who are willfully and intentionally committing sin.

This presence of God is not theoretical, it is actual and it is experienced. This the reason why so many people tell of their salvation and remain Christians all of their lives. This is “knowing” God,<sup>10</sup> not just believing in God. Simply believing that God exists is of no consequence whatever.<sup>11</sup> Everything turns on whether we have actually trusted Christ and whether we actually know Him; nothing turns on your opinion as to whether God exists or not.

So, the “formula” here is to trust and obey. It is not necessary to prove yourself or perfect yourself before God discloses Himself to you. What is important is to place your faith and trust in Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of sins and sincerely surrender to His will. After you do that, He will disclose Himself to you and empower you to turn from sin. He will show you and you will understand. He will show Himself to you just as He has shown all the others who did the same thing over the past two millennia.

Christians are not Christians because they liked a particular set of rules or chose particular brand of theology. They are not Christians because they like the idea of a sacrificial Saviour or because they just like the way the Bible set everything up. Most of them never read the Bible and had no idea of what it says. They are Christians because they decided to trust in Christ, discovered the presence of God and found it to be wonderful. In short, they are Christians because they tried something and it proved to be true.

10. John 17:3 “And this is life eternal, that they might know Thee, the only true God...”

11. James 2:19 “Thou believest that there is one God; thou doest well: the devils also believe, and tremble.”

To the Atheist

To the avowed atheist, let me say that you may be far closer to the Truth than you realize because you are uncompromising and you are honest. You refuse to engage with an imaginary theological construct for the purpose of creating some type of artificial mental repose (theological liberalism). My hat is off to you. You demand experiential reality.

But if what I am saying is true, then that same uncompromising demand for truth should take you to the point where you try it. We all live a life of borders and the border for the atheist is constructed of reason and observation. But if you are to be certain of it you must have the objectivity to not only walk right up to it, but also to take a step beyond it. You can never truly see it if you don't look at it from both sides.

This is my challenge. You claim to be rational but in fact your decision not to try Christ is irrational. It is irrational not to make a decision to place your trust in Christ's forgiveness and to surrender to His will if He will disclose Himself to you. It is irrational not to try—unless you reject Him ab initio.

The argument that the Bible is a collection of myths and no fool would ever be persuaded by it is irrelevant because no one can rationally accept the Bible as true without first discovering the reality of Christ because the Bible is spiritual and without knowing God first, the Bible is foolishness. It says so itself.<sup>12</sup> And that tired old argument that simply trying is somehow a breach of your personal honor is, well, irrational because you lose nothing by trying and prove me wrong at the same time.

Quite frankly, if you do have the courage to walk beyond the limit of your own vision just to see if there is anything there, you will be in for quite a surprise. It certainly surprised me.

12. First Corinthians 1:18 " For the word of the cross is foolishness to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God."

Where does any scripture use the words eternal torment to describe the fate of anyone except Satan? Nowhere. Where does scripture teach that Jesus Christ saves us from anything other than death? Nowhere. Where does scripture teach that the wages of sin is death and that Christ saves us from the wages of sin? Everywhere.
